F. D. R. READY TO ACT ON STRIKES Airplane Motor Plant May Be Located Here Former S. A. Flier Looks Over Sites

S. H. (Buddy) Adkins, former Santa Ana well known in aviation circles, representative of a $500,000 airplane motor manufacturing company in Kansas City, is in Santa Ana today looking over possible sites for location of a factory here.

Adkins is representing the Scott Aircraft Motors, manufacturers of a two-stroke aircraft motor recently developed by Leland L. Scott, head of the company, after five years of experimenting.

Gets Wide Support

"The motor has passed the experimental stage," Adkins said, "and has won the enthusiastic support of aviators in all sections of the United States, because of its high efficiency and low operation cost."

"The head of the company I am representing is planning to locate his permanent factory on the Pacific coast, preferably in Southern

PROPOSE NEW LABOR BOARD

SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 24. (UP)—Legislative measures recognizing the bargaining powers of labor received their first formal recognition by the 52nd California legislature today as the lawmakers neared debate on a bill to create a state labor relations board.

In addition to the Yorty bill advocating formation of a labor relations board similar to that provided in the Wagner act passed by Congress, measures aimed at preventing evasion of present restrictions on employers advertising for workers during strikes and prohibiting hiring of strikebreakers brought from outside areas were given "do pass" recommendations by the assembly labor and capital committee.

Under terms of the Yorty bill, a labor relations board of three members would be appointed by the governor. The original trio would serve until January 10, 1938, receiving $7,500 a year each. The governor elected in 1938 would be in a position to name a new board.

The board would be prohibited from arbitrating labor difficulties. Its main function would be the enforcement of provisions of the act, including guaranteeing labor the right of collective bargaining giving labor the right to organize and select representatives to conduct negotiations, and defining and prohibiting unfair labor practices.

The bill was supported by Edward Vandell, secretary of the State Federation of Labor. Opposition was presented by G. G. Rowland of the Industrial Association of San Francisco and C. Stanley Wood, California Manufacturers' association, Los Angeles.

SEEKS AID FOR U.S. FISHERMEN

WASHINGTON, March 24. (UP)—Sen. Homer T. Bone, D., Wash., introduced a resolution in the senate today requesting the secretary of state to take necessary steps to protect American fishing interests in the North Pacific from "aggression by Japanese fishermen."

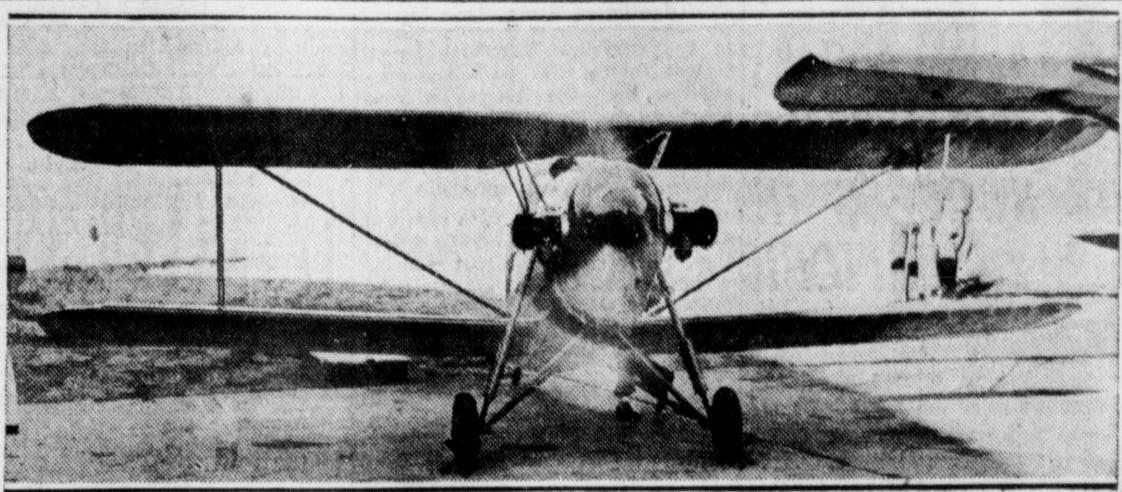

The resolution requests action "as quick as possible" and also asks the secretary to "secure the recognition of the special rights of the United States in the salmon fisheries in Alaskan extra territorial waters."

SURVEY SHIP ON WAY TO PAGO PAGO

KINGMAN REEF, Mid-Pacific, March 24. (UP)—Capt. Edwin Smith, pilot of Pan American airway's Sikorsky plane on a survey flight over the South Pacific, took off at 8:30 a.m., P.T., today on a 1600-mile flight to Pago Pago, American Samoa.

LOUD SPEAKERS ON POLICE CARS URGED AS SAFETY MOVE

Police Chief Floyd Howard will go before the city council in the near future with an application for the installation of loud speakers on one of the department's cruising radio cars, he announced today.

Howard today is writing to police chiefs in many of the cities where loud speakers on patrol cars are being used to aid and assist automobile drivers in respecting the traffic laws.

"I intend to follow up the department's drive for safe driving and I will employ all modern methods to this end," Howard said this morning in announcing his plan for loud speakers. "I believe," he continued, "that when I show the council the remarkable results being obtained in other cities by the adoption of loud speakers, they will grant my request for one car of this nature. If the plan works satisfactorily, as I expect it will, I may ask for another later."

After pointing out that he soon would have a large amount of literature on hand to show what the "loud-speaking cruisers" can do in regard to safety, Chief Howard added:

"It would not be the purpose to 'yell' at people, or 'bawl' them out. The speakers on top of the car carry a moderately-toned caution throughout one city block."

The driver speaks into a microphone which is fitted before him without obstructing his view in any way. It is his duty to caution motorists as well as pedestrians.

For instance, he might be approaching an intersection on a busy street when he spies a man or woman jay-walker. If it is the latter, the "broadcast" would be: "Will the lady in the red dress kindly proceed to the nearest intersection where she may cross safely. Don't risk your life!"

"If it is a parked car, that is encountered, the police cruiser instructs him to move on, describing the car he means."

"The system has spread through the east and south like wildfire. They pay for themselves in less than six months. There are scores of methods in which they may be used to good advantage."

2 SCHOOL SAFETY MEASURES URGED

OVERTON, Tex., March 24. (UP)—Two safety measures were recommended today by Sen. Joe Hill as safeguards against future disaster like the explosion last week at the New London school—the use of malodorous gas in fuel lines and regular inspection of public buildings.

Senator Hill is chairman of a legislative committee that was sent to investigate the situation at New London.

He suggested that the legislature adopt a building code to attain the best results.

The malodorous gas, known as "skunk gas" in the oil fields, is used commercially in some sections so that leaks may be detected immediately.

A accumulation of natural gas in the basement of the school building, probably from a leak in the heating system, was blamed for the explosion that killed 42 children and teachers.

"There is no implication that everyone connected with the New London school did not act in good faith," Senator Hill said. "The only thing that could have been improved upon was the venting of the individual heating units."

17 KILLED IN BUS ACCIDENT

SALEM, Ill., March 24. (UP)—Seventeen persons were killed late today when their bus overturned and burned on Highway No. 50, three miles west of here.

Five Others Injured

Five others were seriously injured and were taken to the Salem Community hospital, where doubt was expressed for the recovery of three.

Occupants of the bus included 20 derby skating contestants, the driver of the bus and his wife.

The five survivors were John L. Creekmore, Miami, Fla.; Dick Thomas, Chicago, driver of the bus; Mrs. Emily Thomas, wife of the driver; Ted Mullins, Portland, Ore.; John Flannery, Kansas City, Mo.

Hospital attendants said Flannery and Thomas had a good chance to recover.

Passengers Burned

All are suffering from severe burns and in addition Mullins suffered a broken leg.

The bus left St. Louis at 10:30 a.m., for Cincinnati, where a skating derby, staged by Roller Derby, Inc., opens tomorrow. Part of the passengers had competed in a derby that just closed in St. Louis.

While crossing a concrete bridge over a small creek the bus apparently blew a tire, sideswiped into the bridge rail and overturned. It remained on the bridge but burst into flames, trapping most of the occupants.

In voting unanimous endorsement of the proposal, members of the association also decided to launch a campaign for public ownership of Capistrano Hot Springs.

Three Methods Suggested

Three methods of securing this objective were advanced:

1. By the federal government attaching the springs to Cleveland National forest, which it adjoins;

2. Have the state of California take over the springs;

3. Make the movement to establish a sanitarian at the springs a county-wide project.

Willard Smith, chairman of the county board of supervisors, and N. E. West, supervisor from the fifth district, where the Capistrano Springs are located, spoke in favor of the proposal, calling attention to the fact that the resort is adjacent to the city.

The motor was torn from its frame and thrown clear of the wreckage.

Dr. Charles Kerrigan, Marion county coroner, said it would be hours before all bodies could be removed from the smoldering

GLENN L. MARTIN HONORED BY NEWPORT BEACH MAY 10

Twenty-five years ago on May 10, history was made at Newport Beach. On that date, Glenn L. Martin, a Santa Ana youth, climbed into a winged contraption powered with a motor and set out on the greatest adventure of his life, a flight across nearly 30 miles of water to Santa Catalina Island and return.

The flight was a success and Martin gained the distinction of being the first American to fly such a distance over water.

Today, giant flying ships, designed and built by Glenn L. Martin, are again making history. These ships, the huge clippers of the air, are linking the United States with the Orient.

On May 10, Newport will pay homage to the pioneer aviator. In a letter addressed to Martin, Theodore Robbins has invited the aviator to visit Newport harbor on that date and repeat his flight to Catalina Island. In answering the invitation, Martin expressed his thanks, and said he would make every effort to be at Newport for the celebration May 10. However, he expressed doubt as to whether he could repeat the historic making flight.

Officials of the Catalina chamber of commerce and island business groups have joined with Balboa and Newport officials in the project. Special committees have been appointed for the affair, and further arrangements for the event will be announced later by Harry Welch, secretary of the Newport Harbor chamber of commerce.

Sixty new traffic signs will be placed at the beginning of all 25-mile and 15-mile zones. The signs read "Remember 25-mile Zone," and "Remember 15-mile Zone."

Fifty new traffic signs were delivered to Police Chief Floyd Howard and will be installed within the next 24 hours. The signs, 18 by 22 inches, have an Orange background with black lettering. Three different signs will be placed at the city limits of all highways entering the city. They call attention to the fact that traffic laws are being rigidly enforced.

SENATORS IN DISPUTE ON COURT PLAN

League May Get Appeal From Spain

GENEVA, March 24.—(UP)—League of Nations officials heard reports today that the Spanish loyalist government was likely to appeal to the league against Italian intervention in the civil war.

The appeal would be based on Italy's announcement at London yesterday that she would not consider withdrawing her "volunteers" from Spain under a general agreement among nations signatory to the non-intervention agreement.

It has been reported that Great Britain and France were not unfavorable to the idea of a loyalist reference of the intervention problem to the league.

But any such appeal to the body which won Premier Benito Mussolini's lasting hatred in the Ethiopian war would be calculated to precipitate a European crisis just now when Mussolini already is angry at reports in European papers that his men in Spain have suffered a disastrous defeat by the loyalists.

LONDON, March 24.—(UP)—Such dangerous tension has arisen in Italian-British relations that authorities sought today to restrain British newspapers and news agencies from publishing information likely to incite further the anger of Premier Benito Mussolini.

The cabinet met today, its regular weekly meeting, and was understood to have discussed the Italian situation. Particularly, it was understood, ministers discussed the Italian announcement of yesterday that Mussolini would consider no agreement to withdraw "volunteer" troops from Spain.

A meeting of the committee on non-intervention was called for this afternoon. It was believed committee leaders would try to avoid angry arguments and devote the meeting to considering the new control plan for the Spanish coast, which it is hoped may be in almost full operation by Monday.

Dr. Mabee came to Santa Ana about five years ago from Chicago, where he had practiced medicine since the close of the World war. Shortly after his arrival he was associated with Dr. Frank H. Paterson in the Santa Ana clinic, retiring from that partnership several months ago to enter private practice.

The letter was similar to one received by the family of David O. Selznick, movie producer, except that the threatening note to Miss Wong indicated the author had been responsible for the assault upon the district attorney.

"I can strike quick like I did to Burton Flits when he took a warning from me as other warnings," the letter to Miss Wong said.

"Had I desired to kill him I could have done so. I added to his injuries. Look at him. That's you if you do not comply."

Miss Wong and the same

from Selznick.

A "Dr. Foote," chiropractor and Spanish-American war pensioner, was held as a material witness. Both notes were signed by a name reported to be either "E. J. Foote" and "A. M. Foote."

Authorities believed the man they held was an innocent third victim, selected by the note writer as his intermediary.

Authorities believed the note was written by a deranged man with delusions of movie grandeur.

Both notes directed that the money be delivered to a downtown address which is Dr. Foote's office. District attorney's investigators found the chiropractor there, but were faced with a new puzzle.

Dr. Foote turned over to Captain Plummer a third note which he said had been sent to him. It directed him to receive the money, on pain of death, and hold it for further instructions.

Testifying today for the prosecution at the trial of her son's alleged murderer, Mrs. Refugio Lopez today testified that Jesus Esquivel fired all of the four shots in the gun battle with her son, Salvador Lopez, who was shot to death here April 14, 1929.

Mrs. Lopez said she witnessed the fatal meeting between her son and Esquivel in an alley near Lagoon street, Santa Ana. Her son did not fire a shot, she declared. The defense at Esquivel's first trial contended that Lopez also fired at Esquivel, and that the killing was self defense. That trial resulted in a jury disagreement.

New Auto Tax Bill Introduced

SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 24.

(UP)—A new attempt to tax automobiles brought into California via the caravan route was launched today with introduction of a bill by Assemblyman Ralph Welsh, Los Angeles, modeled after the law now in effect in New Mexico.

The bill would assess such cars a $7.50 fee for policing and $7.50 for a license. The California caravan act of 1935 was declared unconstitutional on the ground the fees were too high.

When the bill arrived at Oakland post office the package was discovered missing. It was believed it disappeared while the truck was on the ferry.

C. I. O. HEAD, CHRYSLER IN CONFERENCE

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., March 24. (UP)—President Roosevelt will meet with congressional leaders soon after his return to Washington Saturday to deal with the automotive sit-down strike in Detroit, it was announced today.

The development came after Mr. Roosevelt had been in touch with department of labor officials and senate and house leaders discussing the situation.

Sen. Joseph T. Robinson, D., Ark., and Speaker William Bankhead, D., Ala., probably will meet with the president to discuss possible legislation to end the sit-down strike epidemic. The conference probably also will include Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins.

UNION AND CORPORATION HEADS ACT TO END STRIKE

LANSING, Mich., March 24.—(UP)—John L. Lewis and Walter P. Chrysler sat down at the same desk today in an attempt to settle a strike that has closed nine Chrysler corporation plants and thrown 60,000 persons out of work.

APPROVE KENNEDY FOR FEDERAL POST

WASHINGTON, March 24.—(UPI)—The senate today approved a resolution specifically declaring that Joseph P. Kennedy, former securities exchange commission chairman, is eligible for membership in the federal maritime commission.

The resolution stated that provisions of the 1936 merchant marine act shall not be regarded as barring Kennedy from serving on the commission.

The measure was passed after Sen. Royal S. Copeland, D., N. Y., chairman of the senate commerce committee, explained that Kennedy himself pointed out to the committee that he owned two blocks of stock in a shipping line and a $20,000 mortgage on a small tank-er.

serve the right to question this witness as I see fit."

Sen. Carl A. Hatch, D., N. M., supported McGill and the audience, who had already demonstrated vigorously. Ashurst, after assuring his committee colleagues they would be allowed to continue questioning Dodds, warned the audience more outbursts would be tolerated.

Taber Testifies

Louis J. Taber, master of the National Grange, testified as the day's second witness, opposing the judicial plan. Taber proposed splitting the proposed court bill into two parts, to obtain separate votes on the supreme court reorganization and the changes proposed for the lower courts.

He praised the Roosevelt administration's aid for agriculture but insisted that if any fundamental change was needed it should be effected by constitutional amendment rather than the court method.

Cummings in Statement

While the committee dispute was raging, first administration comment appeared on Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes' statement opposing enlargement of the supreme court.

Attorney General Homer S. Cummings issued a two-sentence statement saying:

"The statement of the chief justice is interesting. I hope it will be given careful study as it will be the subject of discussion as the debate goes on."

TWO-WAY RADIO FOR POLICE IS REPORTED 'OUT'

Premature publicity, according to a statement to The Register today, blocked the Santa Ana city council's plan to establish a two-way police radio system here, it was learned.

Answer to Police Chief Floyd W. Howard's request for permit to establish the radio system and to obtain the necessary wave-length, came today from the federal communications commission with headquarters in Washington, D. C.

The police department's radio expert, Officer W. B. Moreland, who already had gone into action, preparatory to constructing the system to be operative between police headquarters and six police cars, was delayed and will be forced to discontinue his work.

The department's 20 officers, who have been studying the amateur radio operator's manual, in preparation for examinations, also are delayed for the present at least.

"With reference to your application for construction permit," said the commission report, "the commission is in receipt of a protest against the granting of this application." The communication advised that "unless this protest is withdrawn, in all probability, your application will be designated for formal hearing and it will be necessary for you to appear in the commission's office to justify the granting of this application."

Contractual plans were under way when publicity was given out regarding the plan to increase police radio efficiency here. Reynolds did not say where the protest came from. Police Chief Howard will immediately ask an explanation for this area.

head of the Chrysler corporation together in his office while 8000 men held all of the corporation's Detroit plants in defiance of an order for their arrest. The meeting began shortly after 11 a. m.

Lewis and Chrysler are in "friendly" conference and "a spirit of amity prevails," Gov. Frank Murphy said after the conference had been in progress two hours.

Refuses Comment

Lewis had no comment as he walked into the same room where a few weeks ago leaders of the United Automobile Workers' union and executives of General Motors reached a truce in another auto strike.

Chrysler was accompanied by K. T. Keller, president of the corporation; B. E. Hutchinson, chairman of the finance committee, and Nicholas Kelly and H. H. Ramsey, attorneys.

With Lewis were Lee Pressman, C. I. O. counsel, and Ork Gassaway, a director of the United Mine Workers' union.

Murphy greeted both parties and they walked into his office.

In the halls of the statehouse a dozen troopers held back the throng that surged close to Murphy's office.

In addition to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene L. McCarter, the boy is survived by two brothers Eugene L. McCarter Jr. and Richard L. McCarter and three sisters, Barbara, Gwendolyn and Ramona McCarter, all of Tustin.

James F. Dewey, federal labor conciliator, who played a prominent part in the General Motors strike settlement, entered Murphy's office at 11:20 a. m.

GETS EXTORTION NOTE

Anna May Wong, Chinese film beauty, was threatened with disfigurement unless she advanced $20,000 for the production of a weird motion picture scheme in a letter received yesterday.

Authorities believed the note to the actress and one received By Mrs. David O.

Selznick were written by a deranged man with delusions of movie grandeur. Homes of both were placed under guard. Police held a Spanish-American war pensioner as a material witness.

DRIVE TO BANISH DRINKING BY MINORS, HUGE SUCCESS IN BALBOA AREA, SAYS OFFICER

By MALCOLM BOSTWICK

The drive to eliminate free-flowing liquor to minors at Balboa and Newport Beach during the Easter vacation celebration is paying off in "exceptionally fine dividends" so far as police officers of the beach area and officers of the state board of equalization are concerned, it was revealed today by H. E. MacKenzie, liquor control officer for this area.

While in previous years, MacKenzie pointed out, many of the minors admitted beer and distilled liquors which they carried with them, from Beverly Hills, the board of equalization and violation of the law which prohibits sale of intoxicants to minors, have been cut to a minimum. Last year, two licenses for liquor dealers were revoked. This year, the liquor dealers are giving almost 100 per cent co-operation to the beach officers and equalization board officers.

The local liquor head said he believed most of the youths who have been driving the beach towns apart in the Balboa area, this year the arrests for intoxication and violation of the law which prohibits sale of intoxicants to minors, have been cut to a minimum.

"There is a very much improved condition at the beach this year," Collins said today. "And we are planning to continue the present program of supervision, every year from now on."

Mrs. Gebb Dies At Home Here

Following her husband, the late William Gebb, in death, Mrs. Lotte S. Gebb, 50, died yesterday at her home, 1725 Sycamore street. Her husband died February 21, after a brief illness. Funeral services will be announced later by the Smith and Tuthill mortuary.

A resident of Santa Ana for the past 17 years, Mrs. Gebb is survived by two sons, W. Stanley Gebb of Los Angeles and John Westley Gebb, Long Beach.

ORANGE GROVE SUIT STARTED

Superior Judge G. K. Scovell today was conducting trial of the suit brought by Mrs. Katherine G. Stewart, of Perris, against W. A. Rice, to quiet title to a 15-acre orange grove near Olive.

Mrs. Stewart, member of a Peris banking family, holds a $4400 trust deed upon the property, which Rice questions. She is seeking to quiet title against a lien held by Rice, based upon a foreclosure.

Mrs. Stewart, after the suit was filed, sold her interests to Mrs. Ellen Atkinson, of Santa Ana, who is represented as the real plaintiff in the case.

to the Cleveland National forest. It was Smith who made the suggestion that the federal government might be interested in acquiring the springs through making it a part of the national forest.

Dr. Miller said that, as a result of a two-months study of the situation, he is convinced that mineral waters of the springs are ideal for curing infantile paralysis and other diseases that result in crippling children and that establishment of a sanitarium comparable to the one now in operation at Warm Springs, Ga., is not beyond the realm of reason.

An investigation was under way today by Detective Sergeant Hunter Leach in an effort to locate a man who gave his name as J. B. Fish, address First National bank building, and issued an allegedly fictitious check Saturday at Vandermast's store, 120 West Fourth.

Clerk John Bright reported the man purchased trousers and shirt, valued at $115, for his son's birthday, then later returned and collected $8.76 cash after explaining he wanted a refund because the trousers "won't fit."

An automobile stolen last week from W. O. Patterson, $22 bus, while it was parked in front of 1420 West Fifth, was in possession of its owner again today, following its discovery by the California highway patrol in Westminster.

PETITIONS WILL SEEK INCREASE IN EROSION AREA

Petitions to add 6000 acres to the La Habra Heights soil erosion project were being circulated today as a result of a meeting held at the Fullerton city hall yesterday.

This area would include most of the acreage in the Fullerton hills district and embrace approximately 200 properties within the Fullerton city limits.

Confering with the Fullerton citizens' committee were Harold E. Wahlberg, Orange county farm advisor, and R. A. Floyd, manager of the La Habra soil conservation project.

Committee Work

The citizens' committee was headed by R. A. Marsden, extensive property owner and department head of the Fullerton union high school and junior college.

Walter Muckenthaler, Fullerton city councilman H. A. Hiltcher, city engineer, and H. M. Bergen, Roy Smith and William Montague, citizens' property owners, completed the committee.

The area that is to be included in the soil conservation project would include the Fullerton foothill properties now planted in citrus and avocado groves from Placentia westward to Buena Park.

Approval Sought

R. A. Marsden, chairman of the committee, is supervising the work with petitions.

Should the project go through, the area would not necessarily be enlarged, Wahlberg explained at a press conference this morning. The rich agricultural lands in the Fullerton foothill area would offset grazing lands now included in the district.

Before the Fullerton acreage can be included in the project approval must be obtained both from those now included in the 25,000-acre project and the federal government at Washington.

10 FINED IN CITY TRAFFIC OFFENSES

Five speeders and five boulevard stop jumpers were fined by Judge J. G. Mitchell yesterday, after pleading guilty in city court.

The speeders include Oscar Williams, Orange, $6; Charles Banks, Ontario, $6; Jerry Nesmith, Anaheim, $8; Robert R. Pink, Los Angeles, $8; and Marjorie Darling, Beverly Hills, $5. The boulevard stop jumpers, paying $2 each, were Calvin Reese, Whittier; Cleo Phillips, Route 3, Anaheim; Helen Gilbert, 1153 West Eighth, Santa Ana; Lula Kellams, Route 2, Santa Ana, and Chew Ginn, 2600 West First, Santa Ana.

Two persons were fined $1 each for failure to obtain dog licenses for proper time. They are S. Gallegos, 2629 Cypress street, Santa Ana, and Ramona Ybarra, 301 Dyer road, Santa Ana; both obtained licenses.

NEW DUST STORMS SWEEP MID-WEST

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 24. (UPI)—Dust storms which were whipped up by gales in southwestern Texas and New Mexico swirled northeastward today over an area where rains had moistened the top soil.

Muddy rains were in prospect in the middlewest, weather bureau forecasters said.

The dust started blowing in an area which was considered outside of the usual "dust bowl" and swirled northeastward to cover large portions of Oklahoma, Texas, Kansas and parts of Missouri.

The appointment was made to fill the vacancy caused by the death this week of Justice A. W. Swayze.

LESTER PICKED AS ORANGE J.P. BY SUPERVISORS

Cal D. Lester, Orange councilman, formerly Santa Ana city clerk and veteran public official of the county, was appointed justice of the peace for Orange township.

Face by the county supervisors late yesterday.

The appointment was made to fill the vacancy caused by the death this week of Justice A. W. Swayze.

Business On Hand

In moving the appointment of Lester, Chairman Willard Smith explained that he had been advised by the attorney that affairs of the court were at a standstill until Justice Swayze's successor could be named. This, it was said, affected not merely property matters, but the liberty of at least one prisoner in the county jail.

"In view of that fact," said Smith, "we hardly have a right to delay this appointment."

is "Senior" Figure

The new justice is one of the senior figures in public life of Orange county. He was elected county clerk in 1903 and served until 1907, when succeeded by W. B. Williams. At that time Lester was elected county auditor, and served until 1915. He then served two years as Santa Ana city clerk, finishing the unexpired term of Joe C. Burke.

In 1920 he moved to Orange and was Orange city clerk from 1924 to 1928. He was elected to the Orange council at the last election, starting his term in 1934. He is also Orange member of the joint outfit sewer board of directors.

Those elected are as follows:

MRS. CLARA DALBY, DUNMOR, BANFIELD, CLIFFORD, BANFIELD, MRS. EVELYN COCHRAN.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks to our many friends for their kind deeds in our loved one in her final moments and for the many floral offerings sent us during our late bereavement.

APPOINTED

Cal D. Lester, Orange councilman, former city clerk here, was named yesterday by county supervisors as justice of the peace for Orange township. Faced with many serious problems that only the court can settle, the supervisors took prompt action to fill the vacancy caused by the death this week of Justice A. W. Swayze.

RONSHOLDT IS ELECTED HEAD OF GROUP HERE

F. E. J. Ronsholdt, of Ronsholdt's Apparel Shop, Santa Ana building, last night was elected as new president of the Orange County Home-Owned Business Association at a meeting of the board of directors.

He will succeed Walter N. Vandermark, who resigned the post because of the "stress of personal business matters and lack of time."

Opposes Bills

The board went on record as opposing assembly bills which would reduce license fees of peddlers from $100 to a minimum of $25 and as low as $5 for certain types.

Assertedly, this act if passed would result in hundreds of irresponsible peddlers covering the entire state selling all kinds of merchandise regardless of quality and in the opinion of directors, it would not be in the interest of either the business men or the public.

J. C. Metzgar is secretary-manager of the association.

Ambulance Firm Opens Registry For Physicians

A physician's registry, by which all Orange county medical men who may wish to leave their offices, homes or the city, can be reached in cases of emergency, was established today at the Orange County Ambulance Service headquarters, next to Winbiger's funeral chapel on North Main street.

Those physicians who place their names upon the registry, can be reached by telephoning 3453, according to W. H. Smith, ambulance service operator, who will handle the registry on a 24-hour basis, without charge. Smith said eight physicians already are registered for the contact service.

L. A. FIRM IS RELEASED FROM ERROR OF BID

"IMAGINARY CONDITION" BRINGS CRITICISM FROM SUPERVISORS

Criticism from the county supervisors yesterday of unfounded publicity relative to supposed under-nourished children in Santa Ana schools, brought from Superintendent Frank Henderson of the Santa Ana schools, repudiation of the recent "scare" over a condition that proved to be purely imaginary.

"Why?" asked Supervisor Harry D. Riley, of Anaheim, "were these scary headlines about starving multitudes of children broadcast without anything being said to this board about such a condition?"

"It wasn't a school broadcast," said Henderson. He added that reports were exaggerated, and that there was no foundation for "sob story" reports of children starving or fainting at their desks.

The discussion developed in connection with a report filed by a committee named by the supervisors, with Ray Atkinson, county school superintendent, as chairman, to investigate reports of "starving" children in the schools. He reported that the need was being adequately met there, and has been at all times.

Turner pointed out that the board could hold the bidder to its bid and take a chance on the result of an appeal to the court by the bidder; or it could reject all bids, at its discretion, and call for new bids. There was no doubt as to the safety of the latter course, he said. It was a "right well established in law."

Bidder May Pay

Members of the board expressed themselves as having no doubt that the bid was an error. The bidder had called attention to it as soon as the bid was read, and before it was known whether it was the low bid. It was the first bid read, only one other bid being received. That bid specified five per cent interest on $45,000 of the issue, and three and one-half per cent on $150,000.

Supervisor N. E. West said he thought the cost of readvertising for bids, amounting to about $25, should be borne by the bidder rather than by the county, but there was no way to attach such a condition to a motion rejecting all bids, it was pointed out. Supervisor Steele Finley, who made the motion to reject all bids, said he believed the county would be compensated by the bidder anyway.

GORDON KILBURN THRILLS AS AMERICAN AS HE LEARNS OF RESPECT FOR U. S. ON VOYAGE

BY VIRGINIA FRITCHER

Americans and the land of the brave and the free rose considerably in the estimation of young Gordon Kilburn during a four months' trip which he concluded last night when arriving at San Pedro as one of the 108 cadets on S. S. "California State." He is son of Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Kilburn, 1227 Orange avenue.

The young traveler will be here until Thursday, when he will resume his studies at California Nautical school in Tiburon Cove, San Francisco.

Graduated from Santa Ana High school in 1935, Kilburn took a year of study at Junior college, enrolling in the Nautical school last fall for a three-year course. The freshman class began its initial cruise in November, going to Tahiti, New Zealand, Australia, Fiji Islands, Samoa and the Hawaiian Islands during a 20,000 mile cruise.

Cadets Are Welcome
"No matter where we went, gates of the city were opened wide to the cadets," Kilburn commented today. "We were given passes on ferry boats, street cars and buses, honorary memberships in clubs."

Natives of Australia seemed especially thrilled to get first hand information of the United States, and to inspect "California State."

BUYER DEMAND INCREASES FOR PONTIAC AUTOS

Pontiac sales in Santa Ana and vicinity are showing a healthy increase, according to A. Bartelson of the firm of Bartelson and Wilson, Pontiac dealers in Santa Ana.

Bartelson said that since his organization has taken over Pontiac sales in this district 25 new cars have been sold and indications are that 15 or 20 more automobiles will be sold before the summer vacation season is actually under way.

Since taking over the agency in Santa Ana the firm of Bartelson and Wilson has installed an improved service department at $10 East Fifth street.

The department, carrying a complete line of Pontiac parts, is under direction of Devere Dove, service manager. Expert service on Pontiac cars has attracted owners from Santa Ana and vicinity as has the expert service extended owners of other makes of automobiles, according to Bartelson.

"We are striving to give the motoring public two things," Bartelson said, "an automobile that we believe is the best within its price range, both for service and appearance and satisfactory service after the car has been sold. We do not feel that our responsibility ends with the sale."

F FARMS MAY GO TO AID MINERS

BROWNSVILLE, Pa. (UP)—The miner who no longer can make a living in the black coal fields may get a chance to rehabilitate himself on farmlands.

The American Friends Service Committee, a Quaker group, has purchased 200 acres of land four miles from Brownsville to inaugurate a program that eventually may rehabilitate thousands of Pennsylvania coal miners now unemployed.

Construction work will begin soon on 50 new homes for the first 50 Fayette County coal miners' families who will be the first to benefit from the large-scale rehabilitation program.

Through subsistence farming, education in new trades and the introduction of new industries, it is hoped that these miners will enjoy a more abundant life.

Home Loans Available

The homes are to be sold to deserving families under long-term loans made by the American Friends Service Committee. The coal industry was selected for the experiment, as the committee carried on work commenced in 1921-22, which the Quakers started at the request of President Hoover.

Private industry, organized labor, government officials and philanthropic foundations have endorsed the project. Among them are Andrew W. Mellon, former secretary of the treasury; Myron C. Taylor, chairman of the U. S. Steel Corporation; Newton D. Baker, former secretary of war; Ernest T. Weir, of National Steel Corporation; Gov. George H. Earle, of Pennsylvania; and John L. Lewis, chairman of the Committee for Industrial Organization.

Federal Manager to Aid

David W. Day, former manager of the Federal Resettlement Homestead at Westmoreland, Pa., will manage the project.

Homer L. Morris, director of the program, said that the idea is to "work out techniques of what to do when large numbers of men are thrown out of work through industrial catastrophe.

"No one knows what to do when a community dependent upon one industry—coal, lumber, cotton, textiles, for example—is plunged into wholesale depression by a sudden shift in the demands for its products or by the rise of competition.

"We aim to find the solution of this national problem which recurs constantly in good times or bad. It concerns all of us—labor and capital alike. Happily, it is a problem above capital-labor conflicts. The people we seek to aid no longer are wage earners."

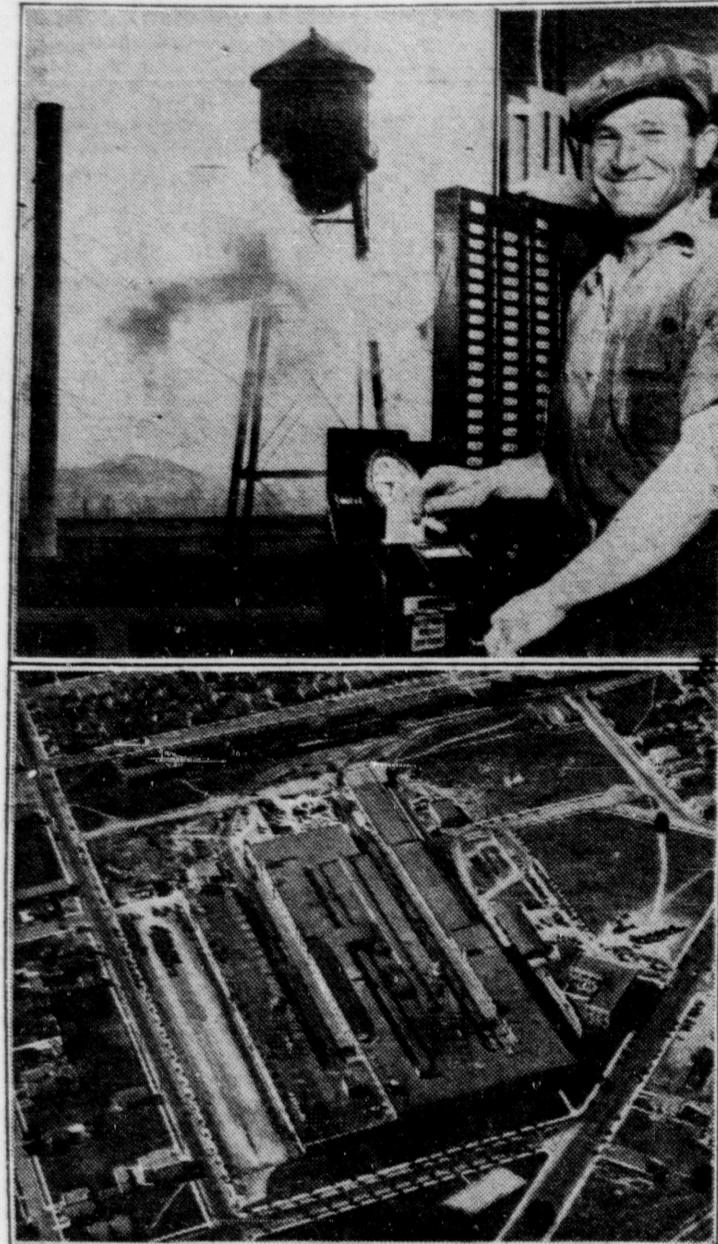

Former Slave Rejoices as Pensioner

TUCSON, Ariz. (UP)—A 95-year-old Negro, brought to Arizona as a slave in 1862, looked back today on the time of Abraham Lincoln and compared his life then with that of today when he is enjoying a $21 monthly old-age pension from the county.

Thomas Murphy, who was the name of his master, Jim Murphy, mining promoter, when he was brought to Arizona, retired in 1902 on his savings. A year ago all was lost when he signed a note for a friend.

The first pension check was received as he sat crippled and penniless, in an abandoned shack here. He says he will use the money to pay his living expenses with a Negro family until he dies.

Covered Wagon Introduces New Low-Price Trailer

A new low-priced travel coach, which embodies advantages and conveniences of higher-priced models, has been announced by The Covered Wagon Company. The trailer will sell for $495, F.O.B. Mt. Clemens, Mich.

Mt. Clemens, Mich.—Embodying expect that the Standard will prove one of our most popular models.

An automotive type steel chassis has been used in the new trailer. A patented safety coupler by which the trailer is attached to the Owner's car permits turning in any direction. Road shock is absorbed by a tempered steel drawbar, which with the patented safety coupler, are exclusive Covered Wagon features. Shermanite steel, permanently bonded to plywood, has been used in side wall construction.

The interior arrangement is similar to that of other Covered Wagon models. Equipment includes a cook stove, heating stove, ample cabinet and storage space, 40-pound capacity ice box, conveniently located water tank, special lighting fixtures, porcelain enamel sink, drop windows with screens and a screen door. Electric brakes are optional at slightly added cost.

"Our new trailer represents an outstanding value in travel homes," J. E. Roberts, vice president in charge of sales, said. "In offering it for less than $500 we reach a large and consistently growing market. It is reasonable to

"Folding" Ships Will Be Added to Ford Fleet

DEARBORN, Mich. (UP)—Soon after June 1, two of the largest ships ever to ply between the Great Lakes and the Atlantic will slide along the New York State barge canal loaded with parts for Ford cars.

When they come to a bridge, the superstructures will be stuck in like turtles' necks, their funnels will lean over backward and their masts will telescope.

The two ships now under construction at Ford Motor Company dock yards near the great River Rouge plant, will supplement a large fleet of Ford ships which ply the Great Lakes and the Atlantic and Pacific.

Ford engineers boast for the newcomers a list of "firsts" among which are:

1. They will be the first freight carriers on the lakes with no riveting in hull or deck. The steel plates will be welded.

2. They will be the largest ever to pass through the New York State barge system. They will be 300 feet long, with a 48 foot beam and 20 foot depth. Designers point out that they could not get through

EXECUTIVE FOR FORD COMPANY VISITS IN L.A.

Bringing a picture of a country that is showing rapid and uniform business improvement which is being reflected in a tremendous increase in demand for automobiles and trucks and carrying a message of optimism for those who are battling the tremendous traffic accident toll, J. R. (Jack) Davis, assistant sales manager of the Ford Motor company, arrived in Los Angeles recently.

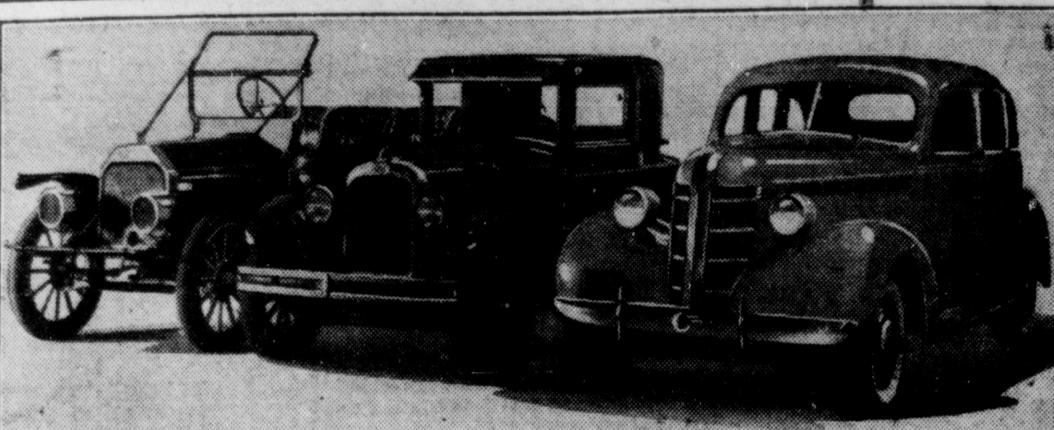

He was met at the station by Ira B. Groves, manager, and Jack S. Moffat, assistant manager of the Long Beach branch of the Ford Motor company. Before going into a huddle with Ford sales executives of this territory, Davis talked with newspapermen, expressing confidence that sales this year would set pleasingly high records for Ford and other motor car manufacturers.

Talking with a breezy directness Davis declared that the "mystery of speed which has afflicted both the motoring public and the motor car manufacturers is apparently passing."

"I make that statement based on the sales success already accorded the new Ford V-8 '60' model. Automobile dealers and other experts declare that it would not be well received by the public because it did not offer the excessive speed and exceptional power to be found in the Ford V-8 '85.' However, the sales records to date belie their proclivities.

"Thirty-five per cent of our output since the introduction of the two models has been of the lower

DOUBLE DEMAND FOR RADIOS BY OLDS OWNERS

Demand for radio installations has more than doubled among Oldsmobile buyers since the introduction of the 1937 cars, according to W. H. Loudon, parts and accessories merchandising manager for Oldsmobile.

"If Oldsmobile's experience is a criterion," Loudon said, "not only more motorists want radios today but a majority of them want the highest obtainable type of reception. Of the two radios especially designed for the 1937 Oldsmobile cars, the DeLuxe eight tube twin speaker type is now out-selling the Standard six tube single speaker type, even though the latter is lower in price."

Unsurpassed reception, Loudon pointed out, is provided by the new Oldsmobile twin-speaker radio, said to be one of the most powerful car radios ever built. It's twin speakers are completely "phased" and carefully matched for tone. One is mounted in the conventional location under the dash. The other is located behind a grille on the instrument panel itself. Together they provide unusually wide tone range and excellent sound distribution, reaching rear seat passengers without requiring volume that might annoy those in the front seat.

Both the DeLuxe and Standard installations include instrument panel controls for tone and sensitivity adjustment, the latter assuring maximum clarity on either local or long distance reception. The units carry a special antenna circuit designed for use with the exclusive aerial system built into all Oldsmobile cars at the factory. This circuit utilizes as aerials the metal plates moulded inside the rubber running boards as well as the metal hangers which support the running boards. A jumper wire connects the two running board aerials so that both contribute equally to the strength and clarity of Oldsmobile radio reception.

MEMORIAL RISES TO SONGWRITER

PITTSBURGH, (UP)—Stephen Collins Foster, composer of many popular American folk songs, liked to spend his evenings serenading beneath the windows of homes in Pittsburgh, his birthplace.

Among articles contained in a collection of the famous composer's personal belongings, soon to be placed in the University of Pittsburgh's new Stephen Collins Foster Memorial building, is a melodeon, an instrument comparable to the present-day ukulele.

"With other young men," said Fletcher Hodges, guardian of the collection, "Stephen Foster practiced the mid-century sport of evening serenading in Pittsburgh and Allegheny."

"On these excursions he carried the melodeon and provided accompaniment for his singing friends."

Hodges spent six years aiding Josiah K. Lilly, of Indianapolis in gathering the Foster collection, for which thousands of dollars were spent. The collection contains Foster's original manuscripts, personal belongings and 75-year-old first editions of "Old Folks at Home," "Old Black Joe," and "Oh Susanna."

At present the manuscripts are housed in the university's Cathedral of Learning. They will be placed in the new memorial building in June, when the university concludes a period of celebration marking the school's 150th anniversary.

One of the rare personal effects contained in the collection is the pocketbook Foster carried when he died and the original 38 cents in coins and "shin plasters." Civil War paper money, the pocketbook contained.

The collection contains four pictures of Foster, two daguerreotypes, one tintype and one ambrotype, made a week before he died and which is now blurred.

Dedication of the memorial will be 111 years after Foster's birth, July 4, 1826. He died in New York City, Jan. 13, 1864.

Five Generations See Roses Bloom

EVENING SHADE, Ark. (UP)—Five generations of farmers have failed to convert the rich acres of "Rose Pond" from a tangled mass of flowers into farm land.

The pond is a level tract of land comprising many acres and is composed of a black soil unlike any other in this section of the state. Geologists advance the theory that it is the crater of an extinct volcano. Large boulders are strewn about the outer edges of the pond as if thrown there by some upheaval.

Iowa Woman Prizes Dolls, Collects 200

SPENCER, Ia. (UP)—Mrs. Tommy Thompson's hobby is collecting dolls and she now has 200 of all sizes, nationalities and ages.

The collection includes modern dolls—replicas of the Dionne quintuplets and Shirley Temple—and dolls of yesterday, with one dating back to 1787.

Oldest of the lot is "Lizzie," still in perfect condition despite her 150 years. Another of Mrs. Thompson's dolls is more than 100 years old.

Numbered in the collection are dolls from Switzerland, China, Germany, Russia, Scotland, Holland, Japan, Italy, and Mexico.

Mrs. Thompson manufactures many dolls in her home for additions to her collection and for gifts to friends.

URGE GREATER CARE IN AUTO MAINTENANCE FOR SERVICE

SOUTH BEND, Ind., March 24.—In recognition of loyal business association, 682 Studebaker dealers throughout the country will soon receive awards of merit in the form of attractive bronze plaques designating their periods of dealership in excess of five years.

"Two hundred and eighty-two of these dealers have been associated with the Studebaker corporation for 15 years or longer," pointed out general sales manager Louis K. Manley, as he announced the awards today. "Fifty have represented Studebaker for 25 years or more, 61 are in the 20-year group, 176 in the 15-year group, 146 in the 10-year group, and 255 in the five-year group."

The bronze plaque will be formally presented to each dealer by the Studebaker regional manager in whose branch the dealer point is located.

Plans for the presentation in the various cities and towns in which the 682 dealers are located include participation by mayors, chambers of commerce, and various civic and social groups.

The chain of office worn by the mayor of Middlesbrough, Eng-land, although bought 50 years ago, is not yet paid for. Only $855 has been paid of the original price of $1250.

Occasionally, someone says to us—"True, La Salle is low in price, but what about upkeep cost and operating expense?" This is a question we like to answer—because the facts all point to La Salle. La Salle's great V-8 engine is extremely economical. Chances are you will notice no increase in gasoline at all when you step up to La Salle. And no car is more sparing in its use of oil. Too, La Salle service costs are extremely reasonable. And don't forget this—La Salle is built by Cadillac, to Cadillac standards, and it does a great job of STAYING OUT OF THE SERVICE STATION. It is a literal fact that La Salle is likely to cost you less to own, all things considered, than cars that would cost you even less to buy. Come in today—and LOOK AT LA SALLE!

MEXICO CITY—Almon Williams was a pupil of Paul Richards, who formerly caught for the Giants and Athletics. . . . Richards taught Williams too well for his own good. . . . Williams played basketball with Richards at Waxahatchie, Tex. . . . He told Richards that he could pitch. . . . Richards purchased equipment for Williams, who now stands six feet three and weighs 200 pounds, showed the young giant how to make batters hit bad ones, and got him a job with Portsmouth of the Piedmont League. In the fall of 1935, Connie Mack gave Richards and cash for Williams.

Williams, a right-hander out of Lanett, Ala., won 17 games and lost 7 for Atlanta in 1936. . . . Buck Ross is showing signs of becoming an intelligent pitcher as well as one with much latent ability. . . . Chubby Dean and Ace Parker attend jal-alai games nights.

Mack rates Floyd Young highly. . . . He is a 185-pound, right-hand hitting outfielder from Wake Forest College. . . . Mack has had a yen for colleagues ever since he picked up Edward Trowbridge Collins, Jack Coombs, Jack Barry, and the remainder of that famous class years and years ago. . . . Scribe Plays Champ, Finds Badminton No Sissy Game

CHICAGO, March 24.—The first annual National Badminton championships will open, significantly, on April Fool's Day. Just to be foolish, I stepped out with a champion to collect some "local color" on this growing sport which has swept the country after a bad start.

BADMINTON RESUMED

Badminton will be resumed at the Y.M.C.A. next week, it was announced today by Secretary R. C. Smedley, who stated that a meeting is called for Thursday at 7:30 p.m. to plan schedules to suit the convenience of the players.

Smedley pointed out that during the basketball season it was necessary to keep the "Y" gymnasium in constant use to accommodate 500 caps. Now that the gym is again available for other sports, badminton is to be given a preferred spot, with two nights a week set apart.

A special badminton committee is being formed. Matches and tournament play will be under way soon. Thursday's meeting will be open to anyone interested and will be adjourned in time for the basketball play-off between Wilson's Service and the Advent Christians.

Jess is billed as world professional champion at a night club which caters to the sporting element of our town and we rigged up his court in the middle of the deserted cafe floor when the last customer had staggered home.

As Hosts They're Good Skates

How is your roller skating technique? News of the good time Hollywood folk had at the roller-skating party given by Ginger Rogers and Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt (here they go, arm in arm) has spread so fast that hosts looking for novel ways to entertain may put you to the test on a slick floor any time. Miss Rogers got the idea for the party when appearing in a skating sequence in a new movie.

SANTIAGO PARK SOLONS TO ASK BOWLING GREEN HOSPITAL BIDS IS COMPLETED

Following report that the city's bowling green is completed at Santiago Creek park, the Santa Ana 20-30 club at its meeting in Dangler's tea room last night made immediate plans for purchase of bowling balls and installation of other necessary equipment.

The bowling green for the park was sponsored two years ago by the 20-30 club members here.

"A project started two years ago by the club has been completed and Santa Ana has a bowling green second to none," Past Active Wayne Harrison told the club last night. "With the beautiful green and sturdy retaining wall surrounding it, completed, this newest addition to Santa Ana's recreational facilities presents a beauty spot which captivates the admiration of all who see it," Chairman Clarence Sprague immediately appointed Harrison and Lee Smith as a committee to undertake the job of securing necessary equipment and organizing a bowling club.

To start with, approximately six sets of bowling balls will be purchased and the public permitted to "try its luck" at the game which is new here. Sixty-four bowlers can play at the same time and Santa Ana now is qualified to handle national bowling tournaments here, the green meeting all specifications. With the city as sponsor, furnishing the land and some equipment, the 20-30 group furnishing bowling equipment, and the WPA furnishing labor, the green installation will cost, complete, approximately $3000, Harrison declared.

Forty-five persons attended last night's meeting. Entertainment was furnished by club members who staged an hilarious evening of amateur vaudeville, according to Jack J. Rimel, public relations chairman. Joe "Major Bowes" Ogle had charge of the gong and introduced the numbers, told stories on the amateurs and provided part of the entertainment. Frank Lewis presented "march of time" news. An impromptu court trial sought to determine sanity or insanity of John Newman, Rimel said. "After it was all over, Newman complained bitterly that justice could not be obtained from a packed court," Rimel added.

Willard Courtney recited "Dangerous Dan McGrew." The club was then entertained by its newly organized swing band: Clarence Sprague, clarinet; Leroy Burns, violin; John Knox, saxophone; Hugh Walker, trumpet; and Bob Shillings, piano. The gong sounded early upon this number. Leroy Burns played some hill-billy music on banjo.

KEN Murray SAYS:

Royal Spurrier's $20 bicycle, reported stolen from the circus grounds, Main and Pomona streets, yesterday, was found by Daniel Morales, 1016 East Walnut, near the spot from which it was stolen, city police reported.

Spurrier lives at 413 Harwood place. A $15 bicycle stolen from Carl Downs, 120 South Flower street, at the Santa Fe depot, Saturday night, has been recovered by city police and returned to the owner. Officers still are searching for a $35 "Traveler" bicycle, black and red in color, stolen from Vernon Benson, 824 Louise street, at Fourth and Birch, yesterday afternoon. The bicycle carried initials, "C. V. B."

HELP KIDNEYS PASS 3 LBS. A DAY

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. Most people pass about 3 lbs. a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Freighters say some people are smoking and burning them, there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, which may be the cause of kidney trouble, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, lumbago, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness and other headaches and discomforts.

Don't use salt! Use your kidneys for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes pass the poisons from your blood. Get Dore's Pills.

ABDUL THE DAMNED, JAILBREAK TONIGHT

Together with June Travis and Barton MacLane in "Jailbreak," the State theater will also show, tonight and Thursday, "Abdul the Damned," which features such well-known names as Nils Asther, Adrienne Ames, Fritz Kortner, internationally-famous actor, and John Stuart, in a film dealing with the Turkish revolution of 1908, in which the despotic ruler, Abdul Hamid II was ousted.

Based on a series of actual events which have only recently come to light, "Abdul the Damned" features the many romances in the life of the Sultan, who had 207 women in his harem—some of the most beautiful in the world. It is generally known that none of the women were Turkish and that by some means, not known to outward civilization, the Sultan acquired women from every country for his household.

It was through his attempt to secure Therese Alder, Viennese actress, for his harem, and the bitterness of her lover, exiled because of the Sultan's jealousy, that the downfall of Hamid II's regime came about. Over-zealous in employing the use of his chief of police, played by Nils Asther in the film, the Sultan's own intrigues eventually snared him.

"Jailbreak," despite its melodramatic flavor, is not without its romance, the love interest being developed between a star reporter covering the crimes and the secretary of a reformed racketeer, the latter being slain in his cell because he refused to join in a scheme of dope runners.

DON'T SCRATCH, SOOTHE THE IRRITATION

Quick relief from the maddening itch of eczema, psoriasis, poison ivy, and irritation about the rectum or personal parts is obtained by applying an ointment called Resinol. Leave it on over night. It lessens the desire to scratch, and eases the irritation.

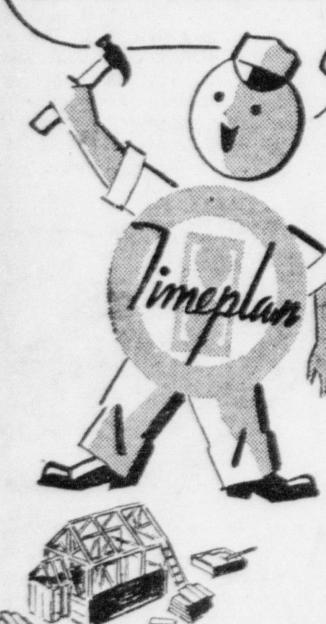

The soothing effect of Resinol takes the sting out of the irritated parts and makes you comfortable. The skin heals sooner, too, with the help of Resinol.

The oily base of Resinol Ointment is ideal for penetrating the outer layers of the skin and securing deeper action. Bathing the affected parts first with Resinol Soap hastens the effectiveness of Resinol Ointment. Many nurses suggest and use Resinol—why don't you try it?

Buy Resinol Ointment and Soap in any drug store. For free sample, write to Resinol, Dept. 4, Baltimore, Md.

Closeup and Comedy by ERSKINE JOHNSON—GEORGE SCARBO

Jimmy Fidler in HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, March 24.—There is something pathetic about a meeting between an ex-star and a postman. On each such occasion I seem to glimpse a light of longing in the old-timer's eyes. I know what it is. Forgotten screen favorites, who once received thousands of letters from admiring fans, now get only occasional envelopes. They miss those former letters; they hunger for popular letters.

Fred MacMurray's habit of holding that right-hand thumb stiffly aloft, until it has become all I can see when Fred is on-screen. Press-agent efforts to couple Robert Taylor in romance with every actress he works with. If they are not careful, they will paint Taylor a perpetual woman-chaser, which he is not.

I stopped to talk with one old-timer just a few evenings ago. He spoke of his lack of mail as proof or I might talk of a family loss. "Not many years ago," he harckened back, "I sniffed at fan mail. I paid two secretaries to answer it, because that was good business. Now and then I would glance at a letter the secretaries set aside. But they came by the thousands, and I regarded them as my rightiful due because I was a star. They meant nothing to me then. God, what a few letters from old fans would mean today!"

This morning I sat in the dressing room of a currently popular young leading man—and told him of my talk with the old-timer. The young actor grew thoughtful. "I guess we do become careless," he said. At that moment his secretary arrived and said, "Here are some interesting letters I thought you might like to read." The young actor passed her a weary glance. "Aw, answer 'em yourself," he groaned.

Lee Tracy tells this amusing anecdote at his own expense. He had been on the water-wagon six months when he met an old friend—an attorney. This man-of-the-law invited Lee to a drink, but Tracy refused. "Come on," the lawyer urged. "One drink won't hurt you." "I know that," Lee said. "But I have signed a pledge." "Gimme a look at it!" cried the legalite. "I'll guarantee to find a way to break it."

ROTARY TALKER HITS AT MENACE TO U. S. HEALTH

With tuberculosis, formerly known as the United States' No. 1 "killer," now in seventh place among fatal diseases, pneumonia under control, and science making rapid strides toward curbing influenza, diphtheria and typhoid fever, one of the greatest present-day drains on lives in America is the menace of so-called "social diseases."

Dr. Walter E. Brown, head of the Stanford University department of health, revealed this startling fact yesterday afternoon when he spoke before members of the Santa Ana Rotary club. Speaking on "Social Diseases," Dr. Brown was introduced by Dr. Edward Lee Russell of the county health department.

Styled As Plague

Dr. Brown said that, according to the United States Public Health Service, venereal disease is the next great plague menacing the nation.

"We know how venereal diseases are caused," he said, "and we know how to treat them and segregate them. However, prevention of the spread of this impending plague is one of our most important social problems."

Dr. Brown advocated control of commercial prostitution as one of the methods of curbing diseases. He said prostitution perhaps cannot be prevented entirely but it can be controlled.

Defines Dangers

To assist in curbing commercial prostitution the speaker suggested programs of wholesome recreation for youth and education that will give the honest facts of the danger they face stressing the fact that alcohol and venereal disease are closely linked through the progression of alcohol, prostitution, disease.

Another important phase in the curbing of "social disease," he said, is the proper home training and education of children in the home and school.

Urging cooperation with the United States Health service in controlling and eliminating venereal disease he gave a tribute to the county health department and urged cooperation with that organization.

WOMAN INJURED

MIDWAY CITY, March 24—Mrs. Robert Keller will carry her right hand in a cast for the next ten days as the result of an accident while washing, the member having become caught in the electric wringer, Mrs. Keller while washing off the rollers, mistook the direction of the wringer was turning and before she could stop it the ligaments in two fingers were pulled loose and all of the knuckles on the hand were practically disjoined. The fact that balloon rollers were on the wringer was said by her physician to have been all that saved the accident from having been much more serious.

After the Titanic disaster, the international ice observation service was formed, and it has functioned so well that many sea captains have not seen an iceberg in more than 20 years.

Committee Chairman Leach, who is handling enrollment, believed it would not be later than Saturday before Troop 26 is formed and ready for action. He advised applicants to contact him at once.

RAPID STRIDES MADE BY SCOUT TROOP LEADERS

The Santa Ana police department Boy Scout troop, No. 26, plans for which have just been completed, now has five "applicants-members" on the roll which soon will number 24 boys.

According to Hunter Leach, chairman, secretary and treasurer of the troop committee, the enrolled group is composed of Fred Henry Pope Jr., Herbert Rodgers Howell, James Dick Farren, Charles Emery Bressler and Wells Bressler. With completion of enrollment, the troop will conduct its first meeting March 31 at 7 p.m., in the police squad rooms at city hall. This is to be the official meeting place of the troop.

To Be Extended

According to Harrison White, Orange county Scout executive, the troop eventually will be extended to regulation troop size—of 32 boys, or four patrols, including four patrol leaders. At present, according to the troop committee, it is considered wise to hold the troop size to three patrols and three leaders—24 boys.

12 JAYSEES ARE HIGHLY PRAISED IN PUBLICATION

We Are Set To Back You Here, Chief!

BY MALCOLM BOSTWICK

Did he or did he not?

This is the burning question faced by Orange county law enforcement officers today, following receipt of a message from Pittsburgh, Calif., claiming Charles B. Johnson, alias John S. Becker, captured in the northern city as a check forger, operated in Orange county.

Johnson informed Pittsburgh police he had passed 63 forged checks for $10 each, in Pacific coast cities during the past several months. He named Long Beach, Los Angeles, Bakersfield, Seattle, Portland, San Francisco, Oakland, Sacramento, Stockton and Fresno as places of operation and added that "I included other, smaller cities, among the places I worked." Bail was set at $1,000, pending Johnson's arraignment in Pittsburgh.

"We are checking records today, to determine whether or not Johnson may have worked here under another alias," Herman Zabel, chief of the sheriff's identification bureau, said.

Assistant Chief Harry Fink of Santa Ana police said no complaints had been entered so far, complaining of Johnson's alleged activities here.

TUBERCULOSIS CONCLAVE SET FOR APRIL 1ST

An appeal to the public was sent out today by Edna Hewitt Smith, executive secretary of the Orange County Tuberculosis and Health Association, Ltd.

It was that all citizens of the area who are especially interested in the work of eradicating tuberculosis from the human race as well as from dairy herds, should make efforts to go to the annual state tuberculosis convention in Riverside April 1, 2 and 3. The sessions will be open to the public at the Mission Inn.

Seal Sale "Day"

On the first day there will be the annual Seal Sale meeting, and this year it will be conducted by James G. Stone, executive secretary of the Los Angeles tuberculosis and health association.

The association will make a contribution to Pacific coast medical knowledge, and on Friday afternoon, April 2, a symposium on silicosis will be presented by Doctors Gardner, Lanze and Sayers. Interesting clinical sessions have been prepared for Friday and Saturday mornings and, at the same time, programs on the epidemiology of tuberculosis and rehabilitation prepared for the sociological section.

This concert, according to music experts of Santa Ana will be one of the most outstanding musical programs ever presented in the city.

Transplant seedlings in the evening, or, if possible, on dull days, preferably before a rain.

Musical Project To Give Concert Here On April 16

Plans for presentation of an all-Tschaikowsky program, April 16, in the high school auditorium were announced today by Leon Eckles, director of the Federal Music Project Symphony orchestra.

The orchestra will open the program playing Tschaikowsky's Sixth Symphony. Earl Fraser, well known Santa Ana pianist, will play Tschaikowsky's Concerto and the orchestra will close the program with the Nut Cracker Suite.

Co-Hostesses Plan Various Gay Features

Two hospitable young matrons, Mrs. Cleland Harbaugh and Mrs. Charles Morgan, wishing to compliment a charming girl soon to join their ranks, Miss Elizabeth Morgan, fiancee of David M. Sayers, were privileged to stage their party in the home of Mrs. Harbaugh's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Browning, 2115 North Main street.

Both auction and Hollywood bridge were played during the early part of the evening, with Mrs. Ralph Hillman and Mrs. George Ellis taking first and consolation prizes in auction, and similar prizes in Hollywood bridge won by Miss Vivian Switzer and Mrs. J. W. Baker. Quite as enjoyable was the musically which followed, introduced by a clever musical reading by Mrs. Harbaugh, with Miss Vivian Switzer at the piano. This was the romance of Miss Morgan and Mr. Sayers, and was written by Mrs. Hugh Gerrard.

Miss Switzer remained at the piano as accompanist for her sister, Miss Ruth Switzer, who sang "At Dawnning," and the program closed with the solo, "Down By the River Bend," sung by the honoree herself, with her sister, Mrs. Paul O'Conner as accompanist.

For the refreshment interval, the hostesses, with Mrs. Browning's assistance, arranged cards tables with pretty linens and clusters of sweet peas and daffodils similar to those gracing the home, and served a tempting upside-down cake smothered with whipped cream, mint and coffee.

Miss Morgan was then asked to take a special chair in the center of the living room, and was privileged to open a collection of gift packages and enjoy inspection of the pretty things the guests had selected for her use in the home soon to be established.

Mrs. Morgan and Mrs. Harbaugh, with Mrs. Browning as assistant hostess, welcomed in addition to their honoree, Miss Morgan, the Misses Vivian Switzer, Ruth Switzer, Mertie Gerrard, Phyllis Gerrard, Alice Whitten, Mesdames Philip Gerrard, Ralph Hillman, Don Willsey, Warren Bramley, Ted Corbin, W. F. Morgan, C. N. Turner, E. L. Patton, Hugh Gerard, Belle Looney, and little Dorothy and Bobbie Hunt, Santa Ana; the Misses Vivian Held and Marjorie Carisie, Mrs. George Ellis, Mrs. J. W. Baker and Mrs. Dickenson, Anaheim; Mesdames Elmer Wray, Paul O'Conner, R. L. Jennings, Bessa Shafer and Miss Mary Frances Jennings, Los Angeles, and Dr. Leila B. Fishbaugh, recently arrived from Spokane and a guest of the Browning and Harbaugh homes.

PROXY BRIDEGROOM SUED

BOSTON — (UP) — Miss Marion C. Fraught is seeking a divorce because she is now Mrs. Rea instead of Mrs. Mitchell. She was engaged to marry Glen Mitchell, a signalman in the navy. But Mitchell couldn't obtain shore leave, so he sent Quartermaster Rea as a proxy bridegroom.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture started as a one-man bureau of the Patent Office. In 1862 Lincoln elevated it to the status of a federal department, with a secretary to represent it in the cabinet.

Charming Appointments
Mark Supper Party
For Bride-elect

Distinguished by the charm of Bohemian appointments, a supper party of last night in the home of Mrs. Robert Guild, 312 Hickory street came in compliment to Miss Marjorie Huber, fiance of Kenneth Price. Mrs. Roger Hearne (Virginia Bailey) of Alhambra was co-hostess with Mrs. Guild.

Red ranunculus in pretty arrangement centered the dining room table, which was spread with a red and white blocked linen cloth. Blue pottery service gave an added touch of color to appointments for spaghetti supper served buffet style. Guests found their places at small tables spread with red and white peasant linens and decorated with marked originality. Coming as a surprise to Miss Huber was presentation to her of a number of shower gifts which proved to be kitchen accessories in red and white.

Mrs. George Preble and Mrs. Crawford Nalle held first and second high scores in bridge, receiving attractive prizes in red celluloid wrappings tied with white bows.

Sharing the affair with Mrs. Guild and Mrs. Hearne were the honoree, Miss Huber and Mesdames Crawford Nalle, George Preble, Clarence Ranney, Ernest Stump Jr., William Jerome Jr., Joseph Irwin, Donald Plumb, E. D. White Jr., Q. L. Hardy, Stanley Norton; the Misses Eleanor Bairdon and Loretta Spangler, all of this community; with Miss Carolyn Tucker, Long Beach.

The Mixing Bowl
By ANN MEREDITH

It seems to me that women are doing more informal entertaining than ever, and that's a grand and glorious state of affairs, for everyone has a good time instead of a pain-in-the-neck sort of time.

Up the top cupboard shelf there must be one of those mammoth "chop" plates or the super-platter used only for big turkey dinners.

Get down this snooty china and make it earn hospitality dividends for you as a salad tray. Suppose you are having eight people for Sunday supper. Not all of the eight will like the salad you plan, so just forget the big salad and make up four kinds, nesting each of the eight salads in lettuce, "undressed." Sorts divide the sheep from the goats with mounds of olives, pickles, celery sticks, and thin crisp spears of raw carrot. Have French and mayonnaise dressings standing by with a pile of big plates by the salad tray, buttered hot rolls, a pot of coffee, and your favorite dessert waiting comfortably in the refrigerator. Then, relax and enjoy the hours with your guests, and don't DON'T "ride herd" on your guests, urging them to eat more when they've had all they want.

In the Spring a young man's fancy lightly turns — And a woman's thoughts and eyes turn longingly towards the crisp trim prints that maybe she can't wear because of bulgy hips and waistline. There is no excuse for such short-comings when women can have a free copy of our efficient Safe and Sure reducing diet by writing for it, a stamped, self-addressed envelope enclosed with the request.

CONTRIBUTORS' DAY RECIPES

Macaroni Cheese Timbales
1 cup grated cheese
1/2 cups milk
2 eggs, well beaten
1/2 teaspoon steak sauce
Salt and pepper to taste
1 cup cut macaroni, cooked

Contributed Recipe
Combine all ingredients, pour into a buttered tube mould, place in a pan of hot water and bake until firm in a medium oven. Unmold carefully on a hot platter, and fill center with creamed new peas and carrots, or with cubed canned beets, heated with butter, lemon juice and a cupful of chopped parsley.

Baked in individual glass custard cups, this timbale is suggested for your next small lunch party. Serve it with something creamed that will add color and flavor contrast. (For home dinner, bake in a casserole.)

Mr. and Mrs. John State, West Fifth street, and Mr. and Mrs. Reine Chew, $26 Orange avenue, spent the weekend on a trip to Boulder Dam and the Mojave desert.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Tabb and son, Roy McLaren Tabb, former Santa Anans who have been living in Anaheim left yesterday morning for Sonora, Ky., where they will make their home. Mrs. Tabb will be remembered as Miss Alice Scott of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Browning and their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Cleland Harbaugh, entertained as a week-long guest, their friend of long standing, Dr. Leila Fisleigh, recently arrived in the Southland from Spokane, Wash. On Sunday they drove to Palm Springs and continued up into Palm Canyon which they found especially beautiful at this season of the year.

John Tevis Harwood and his niece, Mrs. Irene Barber of Baltimore, Md., who have been spending the winter in Phoenix, Ariz., were here for a weekend visit with Mr. Harwood's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Grimes, 920 South Ross street. The visitors are now en route to Palm Springs and reported getting along nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. Alan A. Revill are expected to return tomorrow to their home, 2215 North Ross street, from a few days' stay at Palm Springs.

Contributed
Fry meat, onion and garlic for 10 minutes. Add all of the ingredients (noodles must first be cooked), saving half of the cheese for the top. Bake the delight in a shallow casserole, for half of the goodness lies in the crisp cheesy top. Give the dish 1 hour at 350 degrees, serve it with a crisp salad and either baked apples or baked strawberry rhubarb! Grand way to do it, simply add sugar and bake in a covered dish.

Surprise Observance
Marks Birthday
Anniversary

Miss Bernardine Helberg's birthday anniversary was given a surprise observance last night when her mother, Mrs. A. G. Helberg, welcomed a group of young people to the family home, 519 East Fourth street.

Miss Helberg, Miss Mary Schrock and Miss Ellen Dunlap had dinner together in the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Dunlap, 2143 North Main street. Continuing to the Helberg home, they found all in readiness for a merry celebration.

Mrs. Helberg served decorated birthday cake, ice cream and wafers to the group at the close of the evening. Chocolate bunnies marked places at a lace spread table.

CHAPTER XXV
"NO, Jennifer! If I've told you once, I've told you 50 times that you're to stop remembering you are Jennifer Brett. You're Louise Goldsby. The man is NOT wrong. You are taking the blame for it. You've got to have every tiny gesture exactly the way I have it."

Jennifer waited docilely.

"If you do not shade the part precisely as I do, you'll be out. Now take it again. And lower your head; don't fling it up. Go on." Daphne was unutterably weary. She had been rehearsing all day.

Daphne had come home to rehearse Jennifer—a new Jennifer. She was a subdued, grateful Jennifer only too glad to try to remember all the things that Larry had said to her about Daphne and to relate them, bringing them out like jewels for Daphne to treasure.

"He was so sure that your job meant more to you than anything else. Why did you let him?"

Even then Daphne couldn't tell Jennifer why she had done it. The money was there and she was free. Free to marry Larry if he still wanted her.

If he still wanted her. Could she believe what Jennifer had told her?

"Daphne, look," Jennifer squatted on the floor tailor-fashion. "You must admit I'm doing a good job of reforming."

"Excellent," Daphne grunted.

"Then, why won't you tell me what you've got up your sleeve? I'm perishing of curiosity. You're working me like mad, and yet you have an understudy. And you insist that you're going to open Tuesday in the show. Now, what does it all mean?"

"I can't tell you, Jennifer. I have promised you that you're going to play the part. Please don't ask me to explain anything else. Trust me."

Jennifer was 19. She sighed. "Okay. How about some food?"

Over their crackers and milk, Daphne said, "Jennifer, I want Larry to come to the opening."

"You don't seem to learn, do you, Daph? Wild horses couldn't keep him away. He'll be there somewhere in the audience. I don't know why you haven't more assurance about yourself. If I had what you've got . . ."

Daphne couldn't yet get used to the idea that Jennifer had been jealous of her, had thought she was more attractive in every way. Jennifer had been sincere, Daphne knew, and she was never to be able to reason why.

"You'll have the world in the cup of your hand, if you use your head."

"But, Daphne, what good will all this rehearsing do if Gordon won't let me take the understudy?"

"Oh, I forgot to tell you! He said he would. The day after the show opens."

DAPHNE didn't tell Jennifer about the scene in Gordon Herzberg's office when she told him that she had rehearsed Jennifer in every nuance of her part. Or that she had told him why she wanted to open and then what she wanted to do. She hadn't known he would understand at once. She told him about Larry, promised him a performance equal to her own in Jennifer and had gotten his promise in return. It hadn't been easy.

"The day after?"

"But why not the day when it does . . . ?"

"Because my dear girl, you are going to have a job. You're going to have a look-see over that audience and find Larry. If he is there, you're going to bring him to my dressing room. Now who's so dumb?"

Jennifer reached a hand across the table. "Shake, gal. You're getting there. I suppose after that I'm to make a laughing exit or do I pull a minister out of my pocket?"

"I'm not quite sure what you do after that. Or even if Larry will be there. But I've no doubt the Brett sisters will have no trouble taking cues from each other."

"You won't have any trouble with me, Daphne. I've learned my lesson and I'm so ashamed."

OPENING night.

A Herzberg opening. Gilda Kayle in the leading role. First string critics. Ermine and orchids. Tails and top hats. A first night audience. Bright lights and laughter. Diamonds and street urchins. The people who "came to look" at the people "attending."

NEWS OF ORANGE AND VICINITY

POSTS JOIN TO PRESENT CITY FLAG

ORANGE, Mar. 24.—Members of Otto Rozell post, V. F. W., will join the Orange Legion post in presenting a flag to the city of Orange to be used at the city park it was decided at a meeting of the post last night at the V. F. W. hall with Sidney Lewis, commander, presiding. The flag is to be presented at May Day celebration May 3, when the park and plumes are to be opened with impressive ceremonies. The flagpole will be furnished by the members of the Elks lodge.

Included in important business transacted were plans made for April 4 when members of V. F. W. posts and auxiliaries of the county have been invited to spend the afternoon and evening at the Veterans C.C.C. camp at El Toro. Those attending from Orange are to leave the V. F. W. hall at 1:30 p. m. and all planning to attend are asked to bring musical instruments and other means of entertainment. Capt. William Thomas is camp commander.

Other interesting plans include a waffle supper to be served April 8 from 5:30 p. m. to 8 p. m. when Glenn Rock, G. L. Maurer and Erwin J. Seaton are to be the committee in charge and are to be assisted by members of the Women's auxiliary. The public is invited and suitable entertainment will be provided during the supper hours. Following the event auxiliary and post will attend Past Commanders night at the Fullerton Post meeting.

Action was taken strongly urging the Orange county V. F. W. council to institute a school of instruction for V. F. W. officers. Rudolph Kroener was appointed chairman and Glenn Rock, A. E. Walters, G. L. Maurer and Ave Grudd, members of a "Buddy Poppy" day committee. Charles A. Linn, who recently returned here to resume his residence, was reinstated as a member of the post. Refreshments were served the post and auxiliary and were furnished by Marion Daugherty and O. R. Minton.

Get in there, young woman, and wipe that stuff off your face. I'll have no bride covered with grease paint. And make it snappy if you intend to marry me tonight."

"It's practically off," she said, rubbing her face on his handkerchief.

STAMPS

BY I. S. KLEIN

STAMPS SHOW RISE OF LOUIS NAPOLEON

FRANCE'S "Second Republic" arose after the turmoil of 1848, and the ambitious Louis Napoleon Bonaparte, grandson of the great Napoleon, became president by an overwhelming majority. Immediately a new stamp was issued. The face of Louis Napoleon looked better to him than that of Ceres, goddess of agriculture, but the legend, "Republic Franc," inscribed above his portrait, bothered him. In the fall of 1852, he contrived to order a plebiscite on the return of the empire, and again he won by a vast majority. Soon new stamps bearing Louis Napoleon's portrait were issued, this time with the words, "Empire Franc," across the top.

For 10 years this stamp prevailed. Napoleon defeated Austria at Magenta and Solferino. As a reward, his ambitious wife, Empress Eugenie, suggested that the laurel wreath of victory be added to all Napoleon's portraits.

And so the third type of Napoleon stamp was issued, with a crown of laurel appearing on his head.

TAX RECEIPTS BOOST DEFICIT

WASHINGTON, March 24.—(UP)—Administration fiscal officials said today that March income tax collections had fallen short of estimates—a shortage expected to increase the 1937 fiscal deficit by at least $150,000,000 and threaten President Roosevelt's projected "technical balance" of the 1938 budget.

Despite admitted failure of tax receipts to meet expectations, President Roosevelt expressed hope at Warm Springs that there will be no new taxes at this session of congress. New Deal congressional leaders said flatly they believed every effort would be made to avoid any new tax bill.

There were indications, also, that other treasury tax estimates may have overshot the mark of President Roosevelt's budget estimates.

Treasury tax experts had estimated that March collections would total $40,000,000. But only $652,307,522 was collected in the first 20 days of March. If this over-estimate is projected into the remaining three quarters of the calendar year—officials admitted such a probability—it will threaten the 1938 fiscal year's technically balanced budget.

President Roosevelt estimated that the 1937 fiscal year deficit would total $2,652,653,774. This was based on the assumption that income taxes in the present fiscal year would yield $2,372,900,000. Income tax collections have yielded $1,467,151,544.

Bank Duties Are Told At Session

"The duties of a bank is to safeguard its depositors and stockholders," Merle Hall of the First National Bank told the Phi Sigma Tri at its regular bi-monthly meeting at the Y. M. C. A. last night.

In discussing "Problems of Credit," Hall told of a modern financial concern's method in transacting its business.

ALL angiosperms, or enclosed seeded plants, the world over, come under either the dicotyledonous or the monocotyledonous class. No matter from what part of the world a plant comes, the botanist knows under which class to place it. Of course, much more classification is necessary before the plant is placed in its precise categories.

MIDWAY CITY FIRE DEPARTMENT IN CELEBRATION; PAY OFF DEBT

MIDWAY CITY, March 24.—This week's meeting of the Midway City State fire department was one of celebration for this group of approximately 20 local men who, within a period of 15 months, have been instrumental in paying off the cost of the local fire hall, the final payment having been made at the meeting.

On December 12, 1936, the work began on the station, following the selection of Midway City by authorities as the center for the department which was to serve the district west of the Santa Ana river. Local firemen, working in several committees, solicited through this district for funds for the building materials. The building was largely erected through the personal work of the firemen, with other local public spirited citizens assisting.

Since its establishment a few weeks after December 13, the fire department has in various ways earned the needed sum; money received from fire calls going into the fund, besides donations received from calls which ranged from pumping out flooded basements to rescuing cats from trees. Two firemen's balls given in that time have largely accounted for the larger amount, and a recent ball put the department over the deadline of indebtedness. A total of 25 calls have been answered since the new fire truck was received in February, 1936.

Three miners are under arrest in Deadwood, S. D., charged with the theft of gold. They are Richard Alimone, Robert E. Lee and Arthur Flavin, all Homestake miners.

Ion L. Smith, 60-year-old Denver mining man, is under arrest at the meeting. The completion of tests was made this week by 12 local firemen who completed the 16 weeks first aid course as offered by the Red Cross. This was under the direction of Captain John Garthe of the Santa Ana fire department. The second course will start in about a month if the group decides to take further instruction at this time.

The men who received their certificates for the first test includes J. A. Houlihan, Sidney Miller, Robert Hazard, Ray Sues, Chester Campbell, Jake Steldinger, N. A. Nelson, Bud Hare, Dale Braybrooke, Pierson, Jesse Haxton, Bert Heath. Several firemen who could not be present regularly and complete their course were fire chief Harold Robertson, S. E. POPE PIUS PLANS THIRD ENCYCLICAL

VATICAN CITY, March 24.—(UP)—Pope Pius was reported in usually authoritative quarters to be preparing an encyclical on church conditions in Mexico, to be dated as of Easter Sunday. It would be the third encyclical in 10 days on the third of the major problems of the church: Communism, Germany and Mexico.

Preparations were completed to-day for the first public appearance of Pope Pius since his illness. The young father will appear at St. Peter's on Easter Sunday.

CANCER BILL PREPARED

WASHINGTON, March 24.—(UP)—Sen. Homer T. Bone, D. Wash., is preparing a bill to authorize a federal subsidy of $1,000,000 per year for research work into causes and possible cure of cancer.

Bone said he hoped to introduce the measure within a few days and expected it would be approved speedily.

KILLER ENDS LIFE

Buenos Aires, March 24.—(UP)—Jose Gancedo, confessed kidnapper of 2-year-old Eugenio Pereyra Iraola, heir to a vast cattle fortune, committed suicide in jail early today, police said. Guards found him hanging in his cell at Dolores prison in Buenos Aires province when they changed shifts this morning.

A FARMER BOY

ONE of the best known medical men in the United States was Dr. R. V. Pierce of Buffalo, New York, who was born on a farm in Pa. He noted early in his medical career that many of his prescriptions prepared from roots, herbs, and all "Farmers' remedies" don't expect to do it by just doctoring your stomach with harsh, irritating alkalis and "gas tablets." Most GAS is lodged in the intestines, and the cause of it is due to old poisonous matter in the constipated bowels that are loaded with ill-causing bacteria.

DELAY ACTION ON RACE BILLS

SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 24.—(UP)—Legislative action on bills proposing to legalize dog racing in California again was delayed today in the face of opposition to any plan which would permit lawful betting on greyhounds chasing mechanical rabbits.

The assembly public morale committee voted, after a boisterous meeting, to delay action "another week." Members discussed two bills which would legalize pari-mutuel betting at dog tracks, permitting 100-day racing seasons in the San Francisco and Los Angeles areas, 25 days in San Diego county and 14 days elsewhere in the state.

Because the bills would carry appropriations and could not be considered finally until after passage of the budget, members agreed there was no necessity for speed action.

The senate delayed action on a bill to eliminate the present bifurcated legislative session, substituting a single session plan and defeated a bill to permit district attorneys, their deputies and special investigators to carry guns without special permits.

Assemblyman Frank G. Martin introduced a bill to appropriate $2,000,000 to construct the first unit of a proposed new state prison in Southern California. The appropriation could be used in connection with any allocation of federal funds which may be available for construction of the project.

The assembly public health and quarantine committee today heard detailed testimony concerning need for intensive state regulation of venereal diseases and appointed a sub-committee to draft final legislation.

A bill proposing a tax of three cents a gallon on diesel oil used in trucks was approved today by the assembly revenue and taxation committee.

SAYS F.D.R. PLAN BASED ON MANDATE

AUSTIN, Tex., March 24.—(UP)—Democratic National Chairman James A. Farley told the Texas legislature today that Democrats in congress who oppose President Roosevelt's court reorganization plan "are making a grave error and lending aid and comfort to the enemy."

The president's plan, he said, is based on "a mandate for instantaneous action toward his great objective—the permanent contentment of the United States."

Farley's address came less than 24 hours after Sen. Rush D. Holt, D., W. Va., charged in a speech at the University of North Carolina that Farley and the president were "cracking the party whip" to gain support for the judicial proposal.

Shop Business Is Complaint Cause

At request of Mrs. R. Gibson, 1111 East Third street, complaining that neighbors and children of the vicinity have been unable to sleep because the pounding of metal in a nearby shop has been "disturbing the mental status" for two weeks. Assistant Chief Harry Flink yesterday conducted an investigation and was advised by the shop foreman that a heavy work schedule was the cause.

The foreman explained that the shop was trying to keep up its orders and consequently was working its men after 10 p. m. "But we will be working after 10, only for a few more days, as we are almost caught up on the schedule," the foreman explained.

FIRE SWEEPS BLOCK

ALMA, Colo., March 24.—(UP)—Fire whipped by a 50-mile-an-hour gale swept the main business block of this small mining town early today, razing seven buildings. Damage was estimated at $100,000.

The fire, of undetermined origin, was believed to have started in a two-story frame building which housed a night club, barber shop and an apartment. Fifteen families residing on the second floor fled to safety in their night clothing.

REIDLIN TALKS BEFORE KIWANIS

GUSTAV Reidlin, assistant vice president of the internal banking department of the Bank of America stressed the importance of a stable world monetary system at the regular noonday session of the Santa Ana Kiwanis club.

Reidlins, who was born in Germany, was connected with the banking business in that country during the reconstruction period. In his discussion on "World Monetary Conditions," Reidlin traced the monetary system since the adoption of the gold standard by England in 1816.

"England was the first country to adopt this system and other nations soon followed suit," the bank executive stated.

Trade was permitted to flow freely before 1914, but with the World war another condition arose and the financial center of the world left London.

During the period of reconstruction following the war, it took from six to eight years for most of the European countries to rehabilitate the monetary systems and maintain a stable currency.

He continued by tracing the abandonment of the gold standard and the development of another system to replace it.

Barney Oldfield, nationally known race driver, was introduced at the meeting and spoke briefly on his experiences.

many in nowise intends to cut herself off from international trade. If, however, the others refuse to give Germany the necessary territory to produce first rate vital necessities, they should not be surprised to see the indefatigable German genius searching for new methods of making Germany independent."

Goering warned that Germany now "is not willing to tolerate indefinitely" the dependence of millions of Germans in the textile factories on the "dictatorship of international speculators" in cotton and other raw materials.

He deplored the fact that the reich has to depend "exclusively on the harvests of overseas countries" for her manufacturing supplies, such as cotton.

THOMAS ON HIKE

Herbert Thomas, Y. M. C. A. boys work director, today took a group of Mexican youths on all-day hike in the Silverado canyon sector.

He reported to Santa Ana police and sheriff's officers that a large tree limb had fallen across the highway, endangering motorists' lives. California Highway Officer Horace Ings was assigned to see that the danger was eliminated.

Homer Hammond of the Sycamore Grove camp in Santa Ana canyon, a hero in connection with the March 11 tragedy near his service station property, when five persons were burned to death in a traffic crash, at 2:50 a. m. today, warned county police officials of a traffic danger three-fourths mile west of his camp.

He reported to Santa Ana police and sheriff's officers that a large tree limb had fallen across the highway, endangering motorists' lives. California Highway Officer Horace Ings was assigned to see that the danger was eliminated.

NEW FACTORY MAY COME HERE

California, as it is his opinion that the aviation industry is centering here.

Dana Scott, brother of the inventor of the motor, and a member of the firm, accompanied me to the Pacific coast and is in San Francisco at present looking at possible sites but we prefer and probably will locate in Southern California.

Looking Over Sites

"Because Santa Ana is my former home and because it offers many advantages for a manufacturing plant such as ours, I have recommended location of the plant either in or near this city. This recommendation has been so seriously considered that I have been sent here to look over possible available sites.

"There will be no stock promotion wherever we locate as our financial program has been completed and we neither need nor want additional money. The only thing we are interested in at present is a suitable location for our factory."

Adkins said that he has already looked over two locations, one of them near the Eddie Martin Airport and the other, the old Zenith Aircraft corporation plant near Midway City. He will inspect other possible sites during his stay here.

Ideal Location

The location near the Martin airport, according to Adkins, would be ideal for his company's purpose if the proposed South Main street "cut-off" is constructed within a reasonable length of time.

Construction of the "cut-off" would necessitate removal of the present hangars to higher ground and eliminate the possibility of another flood, such as was experienced this winter during the heavy rains. Adkins said that if such a move were made his company would seriously consider locating the factory either on the airport or adjacent to it.

Adkins, who is test pilot and factory representative for the Scott Aircraft Motors company, learned to fly at the Eddie Martin Airport and passed his government test for a pilot's license there in 1930. In 1932 he left Santa Ana and has been associated with the manufacturing company for several years.

Nine Moving Parts

Leland Scott, inventor of the motor and holder of the patent rights, completed his motor several months ago after five years of experimenting. The motor, Adkins said, is radically different from the average airplane motor in that it has only nine moving parts. It is a twin-cylinder radial opposed model and develops 52 horsepower and weighs 137 pounds, much less than the average motor on the market today.

There are no valves, valve springs, tappets, pushrods, rocker arms, camshafts or camshaft gears, nor is there crankcase compression. The Scott product is a 2-stroke dual ignition model with a displacement of only 106 cubic inches.

Through block tests recently completed one of these motors ran for 1000 consecutive hours without the necessity of using a wrench on it or make even minor repairs. Friction Reduced

The Scott motor principle, according to Adkins, reduces weight, internal friction and vibration. There is no crankcase compression or charging; no dilution of the fuel; the basic design is correct for supplying the charging chamber and for transferring a measured volume into the firing chamber under velocity and pressure without loss, leakage or adhesion. This function is positive and reliable, assuring hundreds of hours of service without repair or adjustment, he said.

NEW CHILD LABOR BILL INTRODUCED

WASHINGTON, March 24.—(UP)—Sen. William E. Borah, R., Idaho, today introduced a new child labor amendment designed to give congress power to legislate concerning employment of children under 14 years of age.

The present child labor amendment, now before the states for ratification, would authorize congress to enact legislation regarding employment of children under 14 years of age.

"Congress shall have the power to limit, regulate and prohibit the labor of persons under 14 years of age."

"Section 2. The power of the several states is unimpaired by this article except that the operation of state laws shall be suspended to the extent necessary to give effect to legislation enacted by congress."

SEN. NYE URGES WAR REFERENDUM

NEW YORK, March 24.—(UP)—Conscription of capital and property in the event of war was advocated by Sen. Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota in an address last night at the Brooklyn law school.

Senator Nye, who is chairman of the senate munitions investigating committee, also urged that declaration of war be only by popular referendum.

"If the government," Nye said, "has the right to draft human lives in case of war, it should also have the right to draft dollars and property which are needed to win such a war. I urge that as an amendment to the Constitution."

WILL KIN OR "STRANGERS" GET MONEY FROM HUGE ESTATE? QUESTION IN SUPERIOR COURT

Whether relatives or "strangers" shall take precedence in distribution of legacies from the $225,000 estate of the late Norman Greenwald, which includes the undeveloped portion of the exclusive Floral Park district, North Flower street, Santa Ana, was a question raised today in a petition filed in superior court by the First National Bank, as executor, asking instructions.

Butler, 71, Takes Issues in Stride

His daily program apparently undisturbed by the furor over proposed Supreme Court changes which would affect his position, Pierce Butler, conservative member of the court, quietly starts his daily stroll in Washington in this photo, one of his latest. Justice Butler, 71 years old March 17, started his career in Minnesota as a farm boy.

Two Talks Are Given Before Garden Club

ORANGE, Mar. 24.—Two talks on gardening, a business session and a luncheon were features of a meeting when nearly half a hundred members of the Garden Section of the Orange Woman's club met at the clubhouse.

R. W. Miller spoke on "Sweet Peas" giving advice as to varieties and the right time and way of planting. She advised the use of sulphur for mildew but stated it should not be used until the condition as apparent.

Paul Walker of Long Beach spoke on "Out Door Living Rooms."

When the survey was submitted under county sponsorship F. P. Jayne, director of PTWY projects for the WPA in Orange county, forwarded it to the district office in San Diego. That office sent it to Dr. J. B. Sharp, coordinator of statistical projects for the entire state, for approval.

Asks Revision

According to Jayne the project has been returned with instructions to return it to the Orange County Planning commission for revision.

Jayne said that the point upon which the project proposal diverged from regulations was on the matter of obtaining information.

The project, as prepared by the planning body, provided for securing necessary information through personal contact with individuals and through questionnaires. Under existing regulations, Jayne said, the federal agency requires that all information be secured from available sources without contacting individuals.

H. St. John, assistant engineer for the county planning body said that the proposed changes probably would be discussed today during the regular meeting of members of that organization.

Poultry Group Is Set For Meeting

Dr. R. H. Schofield, of the Los Angeles County livestock department, will be the speaker at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow when the Poultry Department of the Orange County Farm Bureau meets. The meeting will be held in Farm Bureau hall, 622 North Main street.

Dr. Schofield will talk on "Experiments in Feeding High Fiber Rations." He will talk on recent flocks. General reports on poultry developments based on practical experiments conducted with large legislation and other matters also will be submitted.

DRIVE CAREFULLY - SAVE A LIFE -

"SPARE THAT TREE"

We are whole-heartedly with the Santa Ana Board of Education in its stand to save the handsome cedar that stands in a circular plot directly in front of the new auditorium entrance.

If there was any earthly reason why the tree should be removed it would be different, but the big beautiful Christmas tree that has received the admiration of students and citizens for years actually graces the site and adds beauty to what otherwise might be a barren entrance to a beautiful building. It enhances the beauty of the entire setting.

Many architects are too prone to tear down trees to make way for buildings.

Santa Ana is famous throughout the nation for its many trees. There are few cities in Southern California that can boast so many trees and such a great variety.

The Board of Education should receive the united support of all the citizens in Santa Ana in its opposition to the destruction of most beautiful trees in the city.

UNDESERVED PUBLICITY

Considerable adverse publicity has been turned on Balboa and Newport Beach during past years because of so called wild parties by college students during the Easter vacation.

These stories appearing, in metropolitan newspapers, have been both unfair and in many instances grossly exaggerated. True, there are some wild parties in Newport and Balboa, not only during Easter vacation, but other times. What coast city doesn't have them?

Two young boys started on a journey of vandalism at Newport last Saturday night. Monday morning metropolitan newspapers carried the annual story of depredations caused by college students on their Easter vacation. The youths were arrested and the vandalism halted.

Newport and Balboa are no different from other sea coast communities. The college boys and girls congregate there during Eastern and summer vacations. But why lay the blame of all misdeeds at the doors of these students? Our observations of college boys and girls and even high school boys and girls fail to show them to be the type that spend a week in carousing. True they are filled with the exuberance of youth and probably do things that a mature person wouldn't do. But we've seen some mighty funny capers cut by these self-same mature ones.

Let's give the college boy and girl credit for having average common sense and what's more let's not judge them erroneously.

"Judge not lest ye be judged."

33 PER CENT FOR SIT-DOWN STRIKES

The survey just published by the American Institute of Public Opinion, showing that by a nationwide poll 33 per cent of the people in the United States are in favor of the sit-down strikes, is something that should be alarming to every thoughtful citizen. To realize that one out of every three people believes it is right for people to forcibly take possession of other people's property is amazing; especially is this true, when it is remembered that a great many people who do not believe in sit-down strikes believe wages should be arbitrary and not on a competitive basis.

The change in public opinion in the last few years is almost beyond comprehension; to think that now we have one out of three believing that the factories should be taken possession of by the workers and run, in reality, by the workers. That is what it means, if the workers have a right to sit down and keep the owners from managing their property.

Of course the people are encouraged in this belief by those who never have added to the wealth of the country and contend that those who have have robbed the workers. It is a natural sequence of one compromise after another. When we start to, in any particular, get away from the competitive system—the end eventually means complete control by the government. This, of course, stifles free enterprise and greatly reduces production.

The only hope is to get people to realize where we are going and the rate we are going. We are losing our liberty very rapidly. The price of liberty, of course, is eternal vigilance and we have not been vigilant in the past.

We cannot have a high standard of living unless we have free enterprise. The poor

POWER OF HABIT

The strong hold habit has upon most of us is daily exhibited at Seventeenth street and Broadway where traffic stops on Seventeenth street have been removed.

Seventeenth and Broadway at one time was one of the worst corners in Santa Ana. Traffic crashes at this intersection featured the weekend accident report in the newspapers. Then boulevard stops were placed at each of the four corners. Accidents since then have been the exception rather than the rule. Now the stops on Seventeenth street have been removed and that's where the power of habit comes in.

People have been so used to stopping when coming into Broadway on Seventeenth that many continue to do so. Motorists traveling on Broadway have been so used to seeing traffic on Seventeenth come to a stop they still think they are going to do so. The result is disastrous.

As one prominent county official said yesterday "it's not a very good idea to remove stop signs after they have been in place for any length of time."

Officials declare that the stops on Seventeenth street were removed because of the large number of trucks using the street.

Our guess is that there probably are 1000 passenger cars traveling Seventeenth street to one truck. Let's watch out for the safety of the 1000 and forget about the inconvenience to one truck driver.

CONTROL AMBITION

In a little folder issued by Antioch College, President A. E. Morgan makes a statement, which we believe to be true.

The statement is, "Vaulting ambition tends to look on men as cannon fodder in war, and labor supply or manipulated followers in peace. In order to achieve the greatest total of social values, society must control, educate, and sublimate ambition."

Dr. Morgan fails to reduce his admonitions to numbers and, as Lord Kelvin said, "When you can measure what you are speaking about and express it in numbers, you know something about it, but when you cannot measure it, when you cannot express it in numbers, your knowledge is of a meager and unsatisfactory kind."

The writer of the booklet plays on the word "reasonableness". We presume he means temperate. He seems to object to people who have "personal impulse to expand" and to be of the opinion that the expansion of a man in producing wealth is detrimental to other members of society. It is not detrimental but beneficial to other members of society, provided this wealth is used to reduce the cost of living and it has to be used to reduce the cost of living if it is not personally consumed by the man who has the "personal impulse to expand."

Dr. Morgan seems to think that "vaulting ambition" and "personal impulse to expand" are not to the public interest. That depends entirely upon what ambition and personal impulse to expand mean.

We would suggest to the Doctor that the best way to reduce things to figures or numbers and to accomplish what he is trying to do, is to have free enterprise, free competition, and let the best man win. After the best man has won, if he refuses to use the wealth he has accumulated in a manner that will reduce the living cost and attempts to personally consume or use this wealth to satisfy his own vanity, then society should prevent him from so using the wealth acquired by "vaulting ambition" or "personal impulse to expand" by a very high graduated tax on his personal consumption. This, to our mind, is the most practical way of reducing to numbers, to figures, Dr. Morgan's ideas.

The happiness of sympathetic human intercourse seems to me incomparably greater than any other pleasure. I may be supposed to have passed the age of enthusiastic illusions, yet I would at any time rather pass a week with a real friend in any place that afforded simple shelter than with an indifferent person in a palace.

THE INCOME TAX

Editor Register: In his contribution of March 6th to your paper, Mr. Sharpless Walker quotes with approval a statement that the income tax is the best and fairest of taxes. As to whether it is the best of taxes may be passed for the moment while we dwell on the claim as to its fairness.

It is, no doubt, a pleasing tax to those who delight in devising ways and means to soak the rich, the thrifty, the talented, and industrious for the benefit of those possessing the contrary characteristics.

Another instance, take the case of one who is engaged in a useful but hazardous business which for a number of years instead of a profit shows a loss. Finally, in some particular year his profit is $250,000.00. He must then pay out in Federal and State income taxes the better portion of this profit notwithstanding this profitable year may be followed by others that register a loss.

We have also the case of the literary hack who has been earning hardly enough to provide food, clothing, and shelter for his wife and children but finally is fortunate enough to write a "best seller" that nets him in a single year $100,000.00, a windfall that perhaps never repeats itself. His good fortune, consequently, turns out not to be so good when he finds that he must pay in state and federal income taxes a large portion of this profit shows a loss. Finally, in $100,000.00. Can there be anything fair in a tax that operates in such fashion?

Not one of these cases shows an unearned income nor one that can be said to be the result of corruption, monopoly, or special privilege. Can it be doubted that the operation of such a tax in this manner discourages the industrious, the thrifty, the talented, and the ambitious?

Dr. Morgan fails to reduce his admonitions to numbers and, as Lord Kelvin said, "When you can measure what you are speaking about and express it in numbers, you know something about it, but when you cannot measure it, when you cannot express it in numbers, your knowledge is of a meager and unsatisfactory kind."

OUR CHILDREN

BY ANGELO PATRI

WASHING DISHES

"Can I go over to Eva's and do home work tonight, mother?"

"Yes, but remember that you have the dishes to wash first."

"Oh then we won't have time."

"Yes you will. Plenty of time. I'm too tired tonight to do those dishes. I've been working all day, and I do think that the least you can do is help me with the dishes."

"You always want me to do dishes the night I have to do something else."

"And you always want to do something else the night I want you to do the dishes, don't you? You'd never offer to do them if I didn't make you."

"Yes, I would too, but tonight I want to go over to Eva's and—"

"Listen to the radio. Yes, I know. But you do the dishes first."

Dishes are a great source of strife. Nobody seems to like doing them and yet it isn't such a job, nor so unpleasant as this might lead one to imagine. There is a right way to do them, and if they are done that way the job is a pleasure.

The cook puts hot water in each pot she has used, sets the lid on it, and so leaves it ready for washing. (Dry pots are hard to do. The steamed ones are easy.) She also arranges for plenty of hot water.

Some one is appointed to clear the table. That person sorts the silver, washes the dishes with clean paper, and stacks them neatly ready for the washing. Glasses are lined up with the silver.

The washer starts work. One pan full of warm soapy water, another filled with clean hot water, a dish-cloth, and a couple of clean dish towels, and the job starts. A quick wash, a rinse, in the hot water, a wipe with the clean, dry towel. Nothing hard about that, nothing unpleasant. Then the dish es are put away, the sink washed and dried, the floor wiped up—and there you are.

Pots and pans are washed after the dishes, or before. If the dish washer is inexperienced, or very young, or both, some older person ought to do the cooking utensils first and clear the way for the dishes. The full quota of dishes and utensils would be too much for a beginner.

Where there are several children, boys and girls, the work should be divided, organized and assigned, in turns, so that habit makes it come easier. Practice makes perfect, and routine makes work acceptable. Where the mother is the house-worker dishwashing ought to be the work of other members of the family. It is too much to cook and clean up, too, and the children need the experience.

Little children should be taught to help right from the start. They can carry spoons, place them, wipe them and the like. Soon they can wipe some of the dishes, by and by put them away. Gradually they learn the ritual perfectly, and after that it comes easy to them to relieve their mother. And she needs the relief as much as they need the skill.

Praise for a good job is a great incentive. Dishwashing is not a bad experience for children any way you look at it, unless it is made a drudgery by poor management.

Mr. Patri has prepared a leaflet entitled, "Lying" in which he tells parents the causes of this habit and how to help children to overcome it. Send for it, addressing your request to Mr. Angelo Patri, Child Psychology Department of the Register. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped (3-cent) envelope.

News Behind The News

By Paul Mallon

SEETHING

WASHINGTON, March 24.—Squeezed in between the lines of Chief Justice Hughes' restrained letter was confirmation of the inside rumor that the entire supreme court, liberals included, is strongly against the president's packing plan.

Mr. Hughes stated he would not discuss the political phase of the question, and he did not. Also, he said only Justices Brandeis and Van Devanter had specifically approved his statement, although he felt certain the remaining justices would also agree.

These dignified reservations did not conceal from the mind of any knowing senator the fact that Mr. Hughes was speaking for the court, and is strongly against the wisdom of a packing policy. The senators have good sources of information. They have heard, for instance, that Justice Brandeis, who has championed many of President Roosevelt's causes on the bench, is severely unsympathetic with Mr. Roosevelt's approach to this problem.

Everyone around here seems to have his mind made up and is accepting or rejecting facts or arguments purely on that basis.

NEIGHBORLINESS

Dr. Stanley ("All-Time") High may be persona non grata at the White House, but his good neighbor league is marching on. This political campaign organization filed a financial accounting with the clerk of the house for the period Jan. 1-Feb. 28, listing Dr. High as president. The report showed four weeks salary of $1200 was paid to Dr. High, out of total receipts of $18,364, and expenditures of $16,833. But it also shows outstanding obligations of $51,121, including a loan of $15,000 from the manufacturers trust company of New York, whose interest in making neighbors good is not clear.

Dr. High, reached on the telephone in New York, explains the situation of his step-child of the Democratic national committee this way:

The organization is now divorced from its step-parent and is no longer re-electing Mr. Roosevelt, but is going in for social and economic problems. One of these problems is the combating of anti-Semitism. Also it is holding confidential luncheons and dinners in an effort to promote some solution of the problems of capital and labor. It is doing nothing on the court issue. Dr. High went off the payroll January 1.

EMISSARY

This informed interpretation is further substantiated by the inside events leading up to the writing of the Hughes letter. Senator Wheeler did not just sit down and write Mr. Hughes, as the published evidence indicated. Court attaches say he went first to see Justice Brand
